Union spokesmen said the rulings give the arbitration process the broadest possible scope and a finality largely free from time-consuming court delays.

Nixon Moves From Farms to Economy

Vice President Calls on Free World to Give Food to UN for Starving Nations

Washington — Vice President Richard M. Nixon moves from agriculture to the general economy today in his series of speeches on national issues.

His first speech, delivered in Minot, N. D., Monday night, was significant both for what he said and what he didn't say.

He called on the free world to turn its food surpluses over to the United Nations to feed the one billion persons who go to bed hungry each night.

But he didn't give his stand on price supports, a controversial subject in the farm-lands.

Meanwhile, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Nixon's only rival for the Republican presidential nomination, said he would campaign nationally for the party's candidates in the fall.

Official Cheer
Rockefeller's announcement drew an official cheer from GOP National Chairman Thurston B. Morton. But some Republicans viewed a national tour with misgivings.

They were afraid the governor might stray too far from the crucial New York electorate. They feel Nixon, the likely nominee, would need the state's 45 electoral votes to win the election.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the 40th annual convention of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce at St. Louis, Nixon said: "Mr. Khrushchev boasts that he will catch us and pass us economically in seven or 10 years. By any projection that can be applied, there is not a possibility that the Soviet

Philippines in Hurry for Action on Word

Ike Pledged U. S. Aid to Build Up Defense Capabilities

Manila —P— The Philippine government is in a hurry to translate into action the promises made in the communique ending President Eisenhower's visit last week.

The communique, based chiefly on an hour's private talk between Eisenhower and President Carlos Garcia, pledged that the United States will build up "Philippine defensive capability in the light of modern requirements."

It also "expressed confidence that the few remaining problems (between the United States and the Philippines) will be resolved to the mutual satisfaction of the two governments."

In speeches and news conferences in the last two days, top Filipino officials have made clear that they don't intend to let a lapse of time blunt the meaning of the statement—or at least their interpretation of it.

Addressed Rotarians
Garcia told the Manila Rotary club Monday night that the communique means "early and prompt delivery of arms and weapons from the United States, including conventional missiles used for defensive purposes."

"It is now up to us as a nation and as individuals to follow up and follow through this new advantage—the fresh atmosphere generated by the Eisenhower visit," Garcia said pointedly.

Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano told a news conference he plans to confer soon with U.S. Ambassador John D. Hickerson, possibly Wednesday, on renewed negotiations for a new U.S.-Philippine commercial air agreement.

Earlier negotiations collapsed in Washington just before Eisenhower's arrival here. Eisenhower agreed to a fresh start being made in Manila, reportedly with some relaxation in U.S. opposition to Philippine demands. These include additional landing rights for the Philippine airline on a Manila-Tokyo-U.S. west coast run.

world's cause in the struggle against communism."

Harriman also took Republicans to task for allegedly "protesting that it is improper to have a debate on foreign policy, that it endangers our national security."

Among 40 Speakers
He charged that during the Korean war the Republicans did not hold back in attacking the Democratic administration.

"It is only by frank discussion and debate that our people can arrive at a decision on the need for an increase in our defense effort," he declared.

Harriman was among more than 40 speakers, headed by Mayor Robert T. Wagner, slated to speak at the platform committee hearing.

House Rules Committee Takes Step Toward School Bill Approval

Agrees to Hear Request From Senate to Work Out Compromise With Measure There

Washington —P— The house rules committee took a big step today in the direction of getting to President Eisenhower a school construction bill he might sign.

It agreed to hear a house education committee request that conferees representing the senate and the house be allowed to try to work out a compromise measure. Without rules committee clearance, conflicting bills passed by the two branches could not be reconciled before congress adjourns.

The committee's decision apparently meant that leaders of both political parties have determined that congress should not adjourn without passing some kind of a school bill.

Informal Agreement
Informal agreement already has been reached on major terms of a possible compromise, sponsors of the house bill have reported. But until the rules committee acts, no formal compromise can be drafted and referred to the two houses.

Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) has set no date for the rules committee hearing but has advised chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) of the education committee that Barden may have a hearing at his convenience.

The school bills have been stymied on the desk of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) since June 9. Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga) objected then when unanimous

Concrete Cover Taken Off Well Before Tot Fell in, Officer Says
Wausau —P— Undersheriff Louis Gainoli said Monday that Kenneth Rodemeier, 3, who drowned in a well on his father's farm Sunday, apparently toppled in after a heavy concrete cover was removed during a picnic.

Gianoli said removal of the concrete cover left only a sheet metal cap on the well and that Kenneth was able to move it. The boy's body was found in the well after searchers combed surrounding woods when he was reported missing.

Kenneth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rodemeier of rural Wausau.

Italian Actors Seek Boycott of Venice Festival

Rome —P— The Italian actors' union last night asked its members and foreign actors to boycott the Venice Film festival this year to protest the naming of a Roman Catholic film censor as festival director.

An actors meeting in Rome also registered a protest against Umberto Tupini, minister of spectacles. They said he had "tried to limit the liberty of expression in the cinema."

In February, organizers of the Venice festival on government orders named Emilio Lonerio to replace Floris Amcept. But the senate measure is more costly and would permit use of some federal funds to bolster teachers' salaries, a provision rejected by the house.

The house bill would provide $1,300,000,000 to be spent over a 4-year period exclusively for school construction and allocated on the basis of each state's school-age population.

The senate bill calls for $1,800,000,000 to be spent during a 2-year period and to be disbursed on a formula based on each state's needs, with the state deciding whether to spend it for construction or for teachers' salaries or both.

Last week Tupini wrote the president of the Italian Movie Producers' association that he would stiffen censorship if Italian movies were not cleaned up.

Red China Launches Big Anti-U. S. Blast

Main Theme of Propaganda Says Asian Tour Was Flop

Tokyo —P— Red China today launched an "anti-U.S. imperialist propaganda week" keyed to its furious campaign of vituperation against President Eisenhower.

Drumming out its main theme — that Eisenhower's Asian good will tour was a flop — the campaign went into high gear at mass rallies across China. Peiping radio said millions of Chinese "from subtropical Kwangtung province to northernmost Heilongjiang" were screaming denunciations of the American president.

Eisenhower was described as the "chiefest of U.S. imperialism," the "god of plague" and the "vicious wolf of western imperialism."

Ignominious Failure
Newspapers, radio stations, posters on sidewalk bulletin boards and public address systems piped into every town and village square blared their message of hate against the United States in general and Eisenhower in particular.

Peiping radio reported that playwrights, poets and artists throughout the country are churning out skits, plays, cartoons and poems deriding Eisenhower.

The official Peiping people's daily said the president's tour ended in "ignominious failure."

The Communist New China News agency said "everywhere he went he was like a

HOW STRAIGHT IS YOUR SPINE?

Do you want to find out how straight your backbone is? Then take this test! Strip to the waist, and stand before a large mirror in your usual posture, and observe the following:

1. Does your head tilt to the right or left?
2. Is one shoulder lower than the other?
3. Is one shoulder drawn more forward than the other?
4. Is one hip higher than the other?
5. Does one hip swing further forward than the other?
6. Is your navel off center?

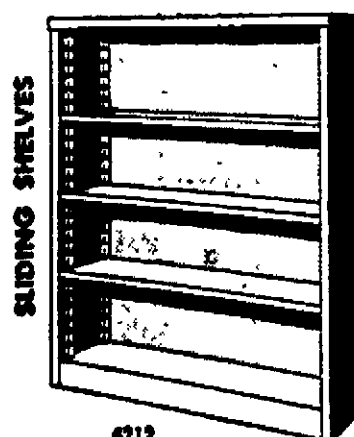

If your answer to any of the above questions is in the affirmative, you should definitely see a Chiropractor, because there are indications of different types of spinal conditions which may be the forerunner of serious symptoms.

Nixon Expected to Consider Inflation Issue in Campaign

Vice President Recalls Childhood As He Speaks of Economic Matters

BY E. W. DABBY
Financial Editor, Chicago Sun-Times

Inflation has never been a hot political campaign issue in the United States, but Richard M. Nixon will talk a lot about it this fall if he gets the GOP presidential nomination.

"All this talk about balancing the budget means very little to the average voter," the vice president said to me during an interview.

Nixon said inflation is a very real thing to him. He explained that his thinking on this subject, as on many others, was shaped in good part by his early years and his family life.

Nixon grew up in small-town Whittier, Calif., where his father owned a grocery store.

"He didn't have much," Nixon said. "I remember how he used to scratch to pay the premiums on a $3,000 New York life insurance policy.

Second of Series

"That's all the insurance he ever had. I remember when he died about all that policy would do was to pay the funeral expenses and a little more.

For Budget Balance

"Yet when he put the money into it—this was back in the thirties and we discussed these things in the family—that seemed like quite a lot of money.

"I think I know what inflation means. That's why I feel so strongly on the need for a balanced budget, sound fiscal policies and the elimination of inflation threats."

Nixon said that as a conservative he favors a balanced budget. However, if the occasion warranted it, he would not demand that the budget for any particular year be balanced, just for the sake of policy.

Nixon worked part and full time in his father's store from grade school days until he was graduated from college—a period that roughly spanned the great depression.

'Had Hell of Time'

"To me, having known unemployment—not my own, but knowing people who used to come into our store who couldn't pay their bills—we carried them, my old man did—it was a terrible thing," Nixon said.

"It was a terrible thing to see these kids you went to school with, I'd see them everyday and their fathers owed bills at the store and so forth.

"We had a hell of a time carrying them because we didn't have much money.

"I know there is nothing more humiliating or disheartening, more degrading, to a family than unemployment where the individual really wants to work and actually can't find it.

"That's why I think it is essential that we develop fiscal policies that will anticipate and deal aggressively with the problems of the business cycle.

'I'm a Realist'

"Credit policies, tax policies, unemployment policies—I believe we have to examine all these policies and use the power we've got to iron out as much as possible the ups and downs in the business cycle.

"I'm a realist," he said flatly. "I recognize that in a free economy you can't have full employment.

"I also realize that you can't have a completely stable rate of growth. There have to be ups and downs."

Nixon decided that he carries within himself a combination of conflicting influences. His mother was a Quaker and devoted to church work and charity. His father was a hardworking businessman. And Nixon was born in California, still a young state of change and new ideas.

Bone of Contention

Nixon recalled that a knock at the kitchen door was all that was needed to get a handout from his mother.

"It was always a bone of contention with my father," the vice president said.

"He was very thrifty and he believed that, by golly, people, as he put it, ought to get out and scratch before you gave them a handout.

"I'm afraid that, in this field, I'm for what you might call pure charity—cast more in the mold of my mother than my father."

"I'm a combination to an extent. I believe in hard work and individual responsibility and the like and I don't believe you can get something for nothing.

"But, on the other hand, I have seen in my life, in the little community in which we lived, a great deal of hardship which was the result of environment which frankly in those depression years people really couldn't be held responsible for.

"Under the circumstances, the community, the state and the nation had a responsibility to help those who could not help themselves."

Brother Died Young

Nixon's older brother, Harold, died in childhood after a 5-year illness. "I simply am not going to allow" ultra conservative forces, Nixon said, to oppose any and all means of achieving health and medical legislation that would protect older persons against disastrous bills.

"We can't be in the position of being against the best health benefits we can provide for our older citizens," Nixon said. However, he would stick with a voluntary plan and supports the administration's health bill against the Democrats' Forand bill.

"I take a dim view of massive government spending during a recession as a method of dealing with it," Nixon said. Massive spending has its effect too late to cure the recession. And then when the spending begins to take effect you are out of the recession and you have a deficit.

"That's why I believe tax and credit devices are better for dealing with this problem."

Disgrace in Japan

The success of the anti-Kishi forces in Japan in forcing the withdrawal of the invitation to President Eisenhower is a victory for the Communist methods of anarchy and hysteria. Those who rioted for other reasons than orders from Red headquarters, and the government which demonstrated its inability to cope with the lawless, all were used as dupes for Communism. The price they pay may be pretty high.

The main leadership of the student rioters was the Zengakuren, an extremist left-wing student organization which follows the aims and methods of the old Trotskyites for world domination and considers the present Russian leadership too conservative. But this group is comparatively small. It was supported in the riots, aimed at discrediting the Kishi government and protesting the new Japanese-United States treaty, by the Socialists, pacifists, violent nationalists, and irresponsible students. The Socialists, who steadily have grown in influence, are after political power. The pacifists still remember Hiroshima with horror and object to the presence of United States troops or the treaty as perhaps bringing down the wrath of Russia upon Tokyo. The nationalists want back the islands taken after World War II and complete sovereignty of Japan.

To some extent the anarchy in Japan indicates again that there can be no such thing as partial sovereignty. After our defeat of the Japanese 15 years ago — and it seems to be conveniently forgotten that the Japanese brought war to the Pacific area in the thirties and forties — we attempted to lead the nation to peaceful handling of its affairs. It worked as long as we maintained real control. It might possibly have worked if it were not for the constant undercurrent of agitation from Communism. But even with the success to date of the regime in West Germany, it has not been proved that our aim in leading a people to democracy can be achieved.

Certainly the conservative, pro-United States government of Kishi has failed in a major responsibility of any government, that of maintaining order within the framework of its law. The Kishi government was honestly elected according to Japanese statutes and in ever-increasing democratic processes. But when it failed to control the mobs, when, it may be suspected, it even permitted the mobs to riot in the hope that the damage would bring the Japanese people to their senses, it abdicated in spirit if not in fact.

It may be that the U. S. should reconsider some of the commitments under the new treaty. Do we want to promise to come to the defense of such an unstable nation?

The Communists in Japan are a relatively small minority. But they managed to scuttle the duly elected regime. They wrecked the processes of democratic government. They severely damaged Japan's integrity and honor. The victory was all theirs and only the hope that their triumph may alert the non-Communist Japanese to their responsibilities has salvaged anything from the debacle.

But No Road Signs

Sen. John Kennedy, in an obvious attempt to balance the experience of Vice President Nixon in foreign affairs, made a "major foreign affairs speech" on the floor of the Senate last week. But unfortunately the Massachusetts senator, running now it appears for the presidency rather than the nomination, said a lot about aims and very little about how to achieve the noble ends.

Typical were his paragraphs on our relations or lack of them with Red China.

"We must reassess a China policy which has failed dismally to move toward its principal objective of weakening Communist rule on the mainland — a policy which has failed to prevent a steady growth in Communist strength — and a policy which offers no real solution to the problems of a militant China. We need to formulate proposals for reduction of tensions in the Formosa Straits — at the same time making clear our determination to defend that island."

Acting through regional Asian groups we must help to stabilize non-Communist Asian nations and we shouldn't recognize Red China or admit it to the United Nations because of its "belligerent" attitude which seems to be increasing, he says. But "we must nevertheless work to improve at least our communications with mainland China."

"This might be accomplished by finding a way to include Red China in the Geneva disarmament talks so that Russia couldn't have an out to nuclear agreements by exploding devices in China."

And "if that contact proves fruitful, further cultural and economic contact could be tried." Sen. Kennedy charged that our policies today are only of "negative resistance" and that "this cannot last in a world where the Red Chinese are increasingly important, increasingly menacing and increasingly impossible to omit from effective international agreements such as arms control."

The main trouble with Sen. Kennedy's China comments is that he is motivated by the quite American viewpoint that the existence of Red China is a thorn, that we wish it would go away, and there must be something we can do to achieve this. This is the old "myth of American omnipotence" so ably exploded several years ago by British Writer D. H. Brogan. Of course it is unfortunate that Red China, or Khrushchev or Castro or the Zengakuren exist. They make foreign policy such an onerous chore and if only they'd all register as Republicans or Democrats our troubles would be over. Somehow it must be our fault that they haven't heard the message.

But Sen. Kennedy offers no real solutions. How can "tension" be eased in the Formosa Strait as long as two violently opposed nations face each other across it? If Formosa were turned over to the Peiping government it would be a solution, but Sen. Kennedy says we must defend the island.

The senator's proposal to bring Red China to Geneva to take part in the already futile disarmament talks is nonsense as far as breaking down any barriers is concerned. The Red Chinese probably wouldn't make things any more impotent, but holding out the hope that such talks might be "fruitful" and lead to further exchange is a vision. Did all the cultural exchanges with Russia make any difference when Khrushchev decided he had to scuttle the summit?

We sympathize with Sen. Kennedy and his frustration, which many Americans share, in the inability of the U. S. to set things straight around the world. If only other peoples would listen to us. Or even to Sen. Kennedy's noble, plaintive, sincere and quite unconstructive speech.

Autocrats Appeal to Public

Saudi Arabia is one of the strategic spots of the ever-simmering Middle East and it has a lot of oil. Now a family feud threatens to split the country but it is likely that the Arabs still are naive enough in participation in government that they simply will follow the winner.

King Saud fell from favor a year ago and made his brother, Crown Prince Faisal, the premier and real head of the government. But Faisal has not been well. Last fall, when he took an extended trip to Switzerland for medical treatment for a recurrent digestive problem, he appointed as acting premier one of the cabinet members of whom Saud did not heartily approve. Now Faisal is ill again and is considering bringing to Saudi Arabia the necessary doctors and medical equipment rather than taking a chance on leaving the country again.

All this might be of mere curiosity to the rest of the world except for the warring elements in the Middle East and the lucrative oil. King Saud gave to his son an oil concession and the right to supply the rest of the country with petroleum products. The Arabian-American Oil Company has protested that this is in violation of its own agreement with the Saudi Arabian government. And Prince Faisal has complained that the concession was given arbitrarily by Saud without the required approval of the cabinet.

But while both men continue on their arrogant ways, as befits a long line of absolute rulers, both are appealing to the democratic instincts of the people. Saud, through newspaper articles, has suggested constitutional reform which would add businessmen and professional people to the royal family advisory council. Faisal has said practically the same thing and insisted the plan "be implemented very soon." But neither has come up with a blueprint for governmental reform or a date. Constitutional democracy of any sort is something new in the Saudi Arabian desert, even in concept.

It may seem odd that these wealthy, politically powerful men should attempt to woo public opinion to settle their family differences. But the agitation from Nasser's United Arab Republic and the counter-measures of Jordan are seeping down to the ordinary desert Arab. The times are changing in Saudi Arabia and the leaders somehow know it even if they have no intention of making any great changes immediately.

watched for its bearings on relations with the Soviet Union and the rest of the world."

Mr. Roberts is fully justified in attaching a lot of significance to what the Chinese leader says. It is because millions of persons in the west have somehow or other come to feel that the place to be most concerned about in the communist world is Peiping rather than Moscow.

the most unanswered questions.

Part of this may be due to the fact that we do not recognize Red China diplomatically and because that country is not a member of the United Nations. Then, too, even though we don't know what goes on in his head, Nikita Khrushchev's travels around the world have caused us to fear him less.

Rain Water Samples Spotlight Questionable Federal Secrecy

From The New York Times

When the first atomic bomb was tested in the desert of New Mexico in July, 1945 — an event that at the time was one of the greatest of wartime top secrets — men in far-off Rochester, N. Y., were greatly puzzled to find that straw used as packaging material for photographic film had mysteriously become so contaminated with radioactivity that the film was exposed.

Three weeks later, following the announcement of the use of the bomb over Hiroshima, the mystery was cleared up. Some years later, following the A-bomb tests in Nevada, snow that fell on Rochester was similarly found to be radioactive, but by that time the scientists were not at all mystified.

Now comes the revelation that by catching rainwater gathered from various points around the world the United States learned conclusively in August, 1949, that the Soviet Union had exploded its first atomic bomb.

We now learn, too, for the first time that not only did the rainwater provide conclusive evidence that Russia had become a nuclear power, it also revealed that she had attained "an advanced state of technology," several years ahead of the time in which our scientists had expected her to reach that stage.

For this achievement Dr. Peter King, 49-year-old associate director of the Naval Research Laboratory, has received, belatedly it would appear, the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, the Navy's highest civilian honor.

Dr. King, in collaboration with a colleague at N. R. L., Dr. Herbert Friedman, noticed that whenever it rained various gamma ray counters disclosed increased activity, which suggested that "rain acted as a scavenger and cleansed the atmosphere of radioactivity."

Observing that the radio active rain came at about the same time with the United States atomic tests in June, 1948, Dr. King came to the logical conclusion that there was a correlation between the tests and the radioactivity of the rainwater, which prompted the N. R. L. scientists "to put stations in other places around the world to collect rainwater."

In this way the Navy scientists were "primed and waiting" for the Soviet tests that came in late August of 1949. The revelation of the story of the telltale rainwater also reveals the rather ironic fact that the Navy atomic sleuths were compelled "to go off all on their own" because secrecy prevented them from knowing that the Air Force was in charge of the nuclear detection program or that the United States even had such a program. This points once more to the questionable desirability of carrying secrecy to the point when the right hand is not permitted to know what the left hand is doing.

Mayor Can't Give $900 Away to City

Burlington, —(AP)— Newly elected Mayor Anthony Renda has a problem — he can't give $900 away. That's his annual salary for the part time post, which he said he would donate to the city. But the city attorney said Renda's gesture is against regulations because an official's salary can "neither be decreased nor increased."

Political 'Voice of Doom' Pitch

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 23, 1860.

Every Democrat, whether friendly or not to the party, must be well aware that it is not possible to keep the federal government out of the hands of the Lincoln abolitionists if two Democratic candidates for the presidency are put into the field.

There must be only one and that man must receive the full vote of the party, in every quarter of the Union, to be elected. We all have our opinions and are entitled to express them on suitable occasions.

But this is no time for TALK. The enemy is organizing and preparing for the fight. We must act. We must organize. We must show an undivided front under the best leader the majority will give us, and then victory will smile upon us as usual. If we go into action like a disorderly mob, or under two leaders with each giving different orders, we shall be scattered like chaff to the four winds of the heavens. Like the late Whig Party, the great Democratic Party of the Union will live only in history after next November.

The Clark amendment to the administration's social security bill, to exempt private company pension plans from the proposed tax, apparently picked up strength in the senate as leaders pressed for a vote on the Roosevelt program.

With little debate, the assembly passed and sent to the senate the Beggs bill making a clear division of administrative responsibility among the three commissioners of the state department of agriculture and markets. Beggs' bill was engrossed 83 to 4 and immediately passed 85 to 4 under suspension of rules.

Under the Capitol Dome

All Governors Like Advisory Committees

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — When Gov. Nelson reached office he made little jokes with capitol correspondents about the number of useless committees and advisory boards and consultative commissions of Republican vintage he had found in the executive office records.

He had hired one executive office aide, he explained, merely to track down all of the creations of Govs. Thomson, Kohler, Rennebohm and others, Republicans all, and he had made the horrified discovery that some of them didn't keep minutes, or any other kind of record, so that he suspected that some hadn't met or done anything at all.

It was good for a little space in the papers at the time. Anything a new governor says is news of a sort to the hungry capitol news corps.

But now, nearly a year and half has passed and the curious reporter might find, if he made an inspection, that Gov. Nelson is the champion creator of advisory commissions of all time. There are commissions on migrant labor, and state capitol business operations, and child welfare, and state planning and food chemistry, to name a few out of a long list, and nearly every week produces another executive office release proclaiming the establishment of another.

THE RESULTS

There are two kinds of results of such creations — one of them implied and potential, the other immediate and real.

The latter, as the governor as a realist knows perfectly well, dies in the gratification of the appointees, on the one hand, and the publicity bonus of the event, on the other.

There is nothing quite as pleasing to the private citizen in North Oshkosh as to get a long distance telephone call from the governor confessing that he has a problem, that he has decided to set up a committee of distinguished citizens to attack it, and that he wants this particular local leader and expert to help in the attack. Reporters sometimes find old acquaintances wandering around the statehouse proudly relating that they are in town helping the governor on a project that the reporters never heard about. It is almost sure-fire as a means of making friends and influencing people.

It also is guaranteed as a publicity gimmick, as the Madison dispatches show. The other day an executive office release offered a list of names for a new advisory commission. It said nothing except that it would be expected to "coordinate" state activities in a certain field. "Coordinate" is a futile word, the bane of the journalist, but it is beloved of the politician and the bureaucrat, doubtless for the same reasons. Yet one object had been accomplished. Some good names had been effectively identified with the Democratic state administration, if not exactly as members of the team, then at least as friendly consultants in a campaign year.

BENEFITS?

Now it may be that such devices occasionally accomplish some good, in translating the public will, in fact-finding, in refreshing the professional public administrator. It may be that the bystander tends to become callous after a while.

But after watching some hundreds of these committees in action over the years, this reporter confesses to a profound skepticism.

Most of them spend weeks of costly time briefing themselves on matters that are elementary in the public administrative fields with which they are involved, while they waste the time of whole squads of public officers who were hired for working rather than sitting around in prolix talk. Some of them quickly become special pleaders for the bureaucratic interests with which they are associated. Many are nuisances to the professionals in the specialized services, although they are not allowed ever to let even a hint of the fact become known.

But if the governor asked me to serve on an advisory committee, well . . . maybe . . .

Canada Can't Help It if Dollar's High

From The Open (Utah) Standard Examiner

Economists and bankers are agreed that the Canadian dollar enjoys a premium over the American dollar solely because of the great volume of American investment money pouring into Canada, the investors buying Canadian currency and bidding its price up.

Canadians discover that most Americans do not know this, and are blaming Canada because American money is discounted at the Canadian border, so Canada is doing its best to educate Americans about the facts.

The premium dollar hurts rather than benefits Canada. Tourists tend to shun a nation where their money is discounted. Canadian exporters suffer losses of customers because Canadian goods are higher than they would be if the Canadian dollar and the American dollar were exchanged at par.

American tourists will soon be pouring into Canada as the new travel season opens. For the sake of good neighbor relations, it will be well if Americans don't scold the Canadians about money situation the Canadians can't help.

Price Index Peak Isn't Inflation

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In a couple of days the government will report that the average price level of goods and services you buy rose another notch last month to the highest level in history.

The news will make headlines across the nation. Whenever the bureau of labor statistics announces an increase in the consumer price index — commonly but incorrectly called the cost-of-living index—it almost always hits the front pages, and this time the publicity is assured.

For while the rise over the previous month won't be more than a fraction of a per cent, it will lift the price index to a new peak of about 126.5. In our language, that means the "market-basket" of goods and services for which the average city family paid $10 in 1947-49 and $11.44 in 1953 when President Eisenhower took office now costs around $12.65.

Dreadful Weather

A primary force behind the newest upsurge in the index is a rising price level for many foods—due mostly to seasonal factors, but also to the dreadful weather of this past winter and production cuts by farmers planned to prop prices of such foods as pork and eggs.

Contributing to the increase is the relentless climb in the prices of many services, most notably medical care.

"But the seasonal factors pushing up food prices now will be tending to push them down later in the summer when new supplies reach the market," emphasized the commissioner of labor statistics, Evan Clague, last week.

'Remarkably Stable'
"At the end of 1960, the prospects still are the total rise in consumer prices for the whole year will not be more than the 1½ to 2 per cent which has been the informed forecast all along.

"The wholesale price level actually has been remarkably stable for months. Increases in retail prices have been significantly spotty.

"There are no indications we are starting a new upsurge in the consumer price level — always, of course, barring a war."

Political Issue

The level of consumer prices will be a top political issue in the fall campaign. The Republicans will point with pride to the fact that the price rise has been slowed to a creep in recent years, while the Democrats will point with scorn to the fact that, despite all the efforts made to halt the rise, the index still is hitting new highs month after month.

But the obvious politics of the price level is not within the sphere of this column. What is pertinent here is whether the latest increases mean you are about to be caught in a new round of inflation.

These latest increases do not reflect a new inflation upsurge.

You are not about to be caught in a new cost-of-living spiral which will destroy the meaning of your 1950-60 pay hikes.

Switch to Beat It

The current increases in food prices are a bit more than seasonal caused by the winter weather and deliberate production cuts. Even so, any housewife can mold variations to her pocketbook advantage. Just as an illustration, while pork chops on average went up from 80.8 cents to 84.1 cents a pound in April, frying chickens went down from 44.2 to 44 cents. A switch from chops to chickens would hardly seem to be a deprivation. While the price of potatoes soared, the price of green beans slumped and similar variations appeared in other vegetables, fruits. In most goods price changes are minor. Even in services the pace of overall rise is perceptibly slowing. The new upswing in the CPI is not inflation. You can more easily "beat" this index today than at any time since World war II.

Capital Expansion Project Bears Fruit

City Team Sells Suburbanites on Annexation Idea, but Honestly

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Pains-taking effort over more than a decade and a half is bearing fruit here in the city of Madison in a most successful program of expansion through territorial annexation in Wisconsin.

The city administration has called on all of the principal city service department heads to compose a team that engages in what the commercial psychologist of today would call soft sell. Their job is persuading suburban residents that they ought to be residents of the parent city, and showing them their own interest can best be served through annexation.

Last in a series on Madison's annexation program.

"No meeting is too small for us to attend to explain and to answer questions," says the office of Mayor Ivan Nestingen.

Questions Answered

"I have spent an afternoon with a single town resident who telephoned and asked about the matter of annexation," adds Lloyd Rooney, director of the city's annexation program.

The program has not always been a pacific one. The city has been accused of territorial greed. Mayor Nestingen has been hissed and booed at annexation rallies and the altercations have been bitter and sustained.

But during recent years there has been a significant change of suburban viewpoint, in a capital city region where once resistance to annexation was as stubborn and bitter as it is in some other localities today.

City officials believe the principal reason for their recent successes has been their determination to play fair on the volatile issue.

There are no threats, or cajoling speeches. Suburbanites are not promised lower taxes as a bonus for joining up, although city officers try to explain that the future tax liability of some of the neighboring towns with their restricted property tax bases and their burgeoning school populations is forbidding.

Positive Approach

Occasionally suburban districts interested in Madison high school service have been reminded that the city doesn't propose to expend building funds to provide rental seats for non-residents. The city's water utility is sometimes a persuasive tool.

But in general the emphasis is on the positive, city hall says.

Suburban electors are reminded that in most instances they are paying higher school taxes than are city residents with their advantage of a richer tax base, and although the local governmental tax rates may be lower, the suburban residents are not getting much in the way of police protection, library privileges, fire protection, vocational school opportunity and many others.

Persuasive as those factors evidently are, there are more subtle considerations involved. In one big district recently annexed, residents were angered when they discovered part of the reason for an apparently low general government tax rate was the fact that the town board had quietly borrowed nearly $300,000 to maintain an artificially low tax rate.

Many residents who have spilled over into neighboring towns grew up in Madison, regard it as their home town, studied in Madison schools, and now are outsiders only by boundary line positions.

Space Needed

They bought their homes outside the city because the city had exhausted its growth space. Some built in undeveloped plats because of lower costs, and the absence of such municipal assessments for sidewalks, curb and gutter, and others.

Outlook Changes

In nearby towns with explosive post-war growth through new settlement, the influence of the traditionalists was gradually diluted. Younger men and women who had grown up as city residents discovered that town government was not adequate for their purposes.

The biggest single tug toward the city involved school service. Madison schools are superior in breadth of curriculum and scope of physical facilities. Measured in school tax liability they are also less expensive.

"As these towns developed into urban residential areas, school service became so costly that it compared badly with the city," explained Rooney, citing case after case from the recent annexation docket.

The city has an industrial and commercial tax base to swell its residential tax receipts. Town suburbs for the most part do not.

But political psychology is also involved, city officials emphasize and repeat.

"We have learned long ago that it doesn't pay to be vindictive. You may gain one case, but you'll lose the next three."

"The crux of the matter is helping that individual who decides he's interested in annexation. He becomes the missionary and the battle is half won. Tell him the truth," advises Rooney, whose success in Madison has won him an offer to work as a municipal specialist with the new state department of resource development, where he will be available to other cities with growing pains.

Thilco Names Superintendent

A. Harold Martin to Replace F. X. Kreiling Who Has Resigned

Kaukauna — Appointment of A. Harold Martin, 738 E. Alton street, Appleton, as paper mill superintendent at the

Martin Kreiling

Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, was announced Monday by Fred Herbolzheimer, production manager of the firm.

Martin replaces F. X. Kreiling, who resigned to accept the position of production manager in charge of pulp and paper operations for the Georgia Pacific Paper company, Toledo, Oregon.

Kreiling, who will leave early in July to take up new duties, has been with Thilmany for 23 years. In announcing the resignation, Herbolzheimer praised Kreiling for "contributing substantially to the fine growth" of Thilmany.

Martin's Background
Martin came to Thilmany in 1957 from the Marinette Paper company, where he was technical control director. He was immediately named manager of Division B-2 of the paper mill, including paper machines Nos. 6, 7, 8 and 10. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, holding a master's degree in chemical engineering.

To succeed Martin as Division B-2 manager, R. C. Dressler, 615 N. Oneida street, Appleton, was named to that position. He previously had been in charge of stock preparation in the paper mill.

Packer Season Tickets Are Available Locally

Kaukauna — Despite the record 29,031 season tickets sold for the Green Bay Packers game, some season passes are still available locally, according to Arthur Mongin, director and ticket agent for the Kaukauna area.

All previous holders of season tickets have been processed and new orders filled, according to Mongin. The possibility of a complete sellout of season's tickets is likely.

Two Motorists Post Fines at Police Station

Kaukauna — Two motorists signed waivers stipulating guilt to traffic violations and deposited fines at the police station over the weekend.

Mrs. Pauline Ollech, Milwaukee, paid $15 for failing to stop for an arterial and causing a minor accident and will have six points charged against her driving record.

Richard Manthey, 38, St. Joseph, Mich., paid $14.75 for speeding and will have three points charged against his record.

Extension Center Head To Address Rotarians

Kaukauna — Dr. Verne Imhoff, director of the Fox Cities University of Wisconsin Extension center, will talk on "Functions of the New Extension Center" at a Rotary club luncheon at noon Wednesday at the Elks clubrooms.

Wayne Hillegas, program chairman, will introduce the speaker. Final plans will be made for the annual night meeting at which wives are special guests. Reservations will be taken Wednesday.

Illinois Pair Hurt in Mishap

Little Chute Police Report Two Accidents Probed Saturday

Little Chute — Two accidents were investigated Saturday by village police, one resulting in injuries to an Illinois couple while the second resulted in property damage only.

The first about 11:20 a.m. Saturday happened on Highway 41 about a block from County Trunk CC. A car driven by Guy Blouin, 44, 1164 Fourth street, Kaukauna, was attempting to pass a semi-truck traveling west on the highway. He noticed an oncoming car driven by George Panzer, 65, Harvey, Ill., approaching from the east but was unable to pull back into the proper lane of traffic to avoid a mishap.

Almost Headon
The accident was a near headon collision. Panzer was treated at Community hospital for a bruised right forearm while Mrs. Panzer, 64, Wilfred Vandenberg, secretary-treasurer of the loan association, complaining of back injuries.

The couple was taken in the Kaukauna ambulance. Assistant Sylvester Vandenberg, village police chief, were county Policemen William Block, William Jansen and Stanley Arnold.

Property damage resulted in an accident on E. Main street about 6:40 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by James Van Hammond, 17, 211 W. Tenth street, Kaukauna, traveling west on Main, hit the back end of a car driven by Lawrence Van Bortel, 25, route 1, Menasha. Van Bortel had slowed and was signaling for a right turn into a private drive when the accident occurred.

Savings and Loan at Kimberly Declares 4 Per Cent Dividend

Kimberly — Directors of the Kimberly Savings and Loan have declared a 4 per cent dividend to be paid June 30 covering the period from Jan. 1 through the payment date.

The institution will be paying out or crediting to savings in excess of $100,000 with 2-100 savings members sharing in the dividend, according to Wilfred Vandenberg, secretary-treasurer of the loan association.

Hospital Women To Plan Annual Baby Alumni Day

Kaukauna — Plans for the annual Baby Alumni Day program, July 14, will be discussed at a luncheon meeting of the Kaukauna Hospital auxiliary at 1 p.m. Monday at the Fox Valley Golf club. Reservations for the dinner are to be made with Mrs. Thomas Bauer, general chairman, prior to Thursday evening. Assisting on the committee are Mrs. George Boyd, Mrs. H. G. Whitman, Miss Clara Zeidler, Mrs. Clayton Blumreich and Mrs. Orry Schmalz.

A card social will round out the afternoon program.

Man Admits Being Drunk, Disorderly

Kaukauna — William Spangler, 27, 1400 Main avenue, Kaukauna, signed a waiver stipulating guilt of drunk and disorderly conduct and posted a fine of $20 at the police station.

Spangler was arrested by police when he was found sleeping on a city street.

Area K of C Seek to Land Midwest Office

Supreme Council Is Asked to Consider Site Within Fox Cities

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Knights of Columbus are seeking aid from fellow members from Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks in promoting the area as a possible site for a Midwest regional office of the Knights of Columbus.

The supreme council has indicated a site in the Midwest is needed to administer the insurance program of the organization. Kaukauna members have found the office would initially employ about 30 people, most of these clerical and supervisory in nature.

The supreme council has agreed to consider this area and members feel further consideration can be expected if the civic atmosphere is responsive to the needs. A meeting has been called for 8:15 p.m., June 29, at the Farmers and Merchants bank when a committee will discuss what further appeals can be presented through the cooperation of the community leaders and civic groups of the various communities.

The number of high schools in the immediate area and their potential as a source of clerical workers together with the proximity and labor force available in the Fox Cities is one of the selling points for the committee.

Deadline Set to Sign for FVGC President's Cup

Kaukauna — Registration for men interested in participating in the President's Cup tourney at Fox Valley Golf Club will close Thursday evening, according to the tournament committee.

This is the first competition of the season for male club members. The tourney will follow the pattern adopted last year with the first two or three matches, depending on the number entered, to be played on a match-play basis.

Finals are to be played Aug. 1 with the 16 survivors playing in the 18-hole finals. Handicaps will be adjusted just prior to the final 18-hole medal play with the lowest net score winning the top prize.

Consolation prizes will be awarded four runners-up. The California Visitors

Little Chute — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hietpas, Buena Park, Calif., are spending a 3-week vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hietpas.

Awards and President's Cup will be made at an evening party at the club. The finalists will also be competing as "horses" in a Calcutta in conjunction with the playoff.

12 Girl Scouts At Little Chute Earn 2nd Class

Little Chute — Members of Girl Scout Troop 279 closed out the year's activities with a cook-out at Doyle park at which time 12 girls were advanced to the second class rank.

Five of the 12 received a magic carpet badge and six earned the dabbler badge. Reaching second class rank were Katherine DeBruin, Terry Lynn DeGroot, Carol Haupt, Ann Helf, Joan Hietpas, Susan Jansen, Marilyn Kuhn, Kathleen McMahon, Terry Ann Schiltz, Helen Spierings, Margaret Vanden Boom and JoAnn Van Wymmeren.

Two Cars Damaged in Accident on Sunday

Kaukauna — Several hundred dollars damage resulted but no one was injured in a 2-car accident on Crooks avenue about 7 p. m. Sunday, according to Kaukauna police.

Police reported a car driven by Myron Ebben, 29, 620 Lincoln street, Kaukauna, was travelling north on Crooks avenue and attempted to pass a car driven by Herman A. Keil, 63, 1804 Main avenue, on the right side. Keil veered to his right, not realizing the car was passing and struck the side of the Ebben vehicle.

were Mrs. Clarence Schiltz, leader, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Haupt, Mrs. Henry Kuhn and Mrs. Ed Spierings.

Plans Completed for Annual Huck Finn-Becky Thatcher Day

Kaukauna — Members of Post 3319 will join with the Veterans of Foreign Wars recreation department in sponsoring the annual Huck Finn day activities this year rather than the Rod and Gun club as has been the practice in previous years.

The event will get underway at 1 p.m. Saturday with youngsters assembling at the VFW grounds prior to marching through the city to the fish pond site. Numbers will be assigned children prior to the parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buesing will serve as judges to select the most authentic Huck Finn and Becky Thatcher costumes. The two top winners will receive bicycles as their reward. Announcement of the winners will be made at the fishing site.

Other Prizes
The state conservation department has stocked the fish pond with perch, bluegills, bluehead and other panfish. A fishing derby will conclude the afternoon's activity with prizes being awarded for the largest fish, smallest fish, most fish, most unusual catch and various other categories.

Members of the VFW and recreation department will be on hand to supervise the parade and to assist at the fishing grounds with attaching hooks, unsnarling lines and other duties which the smaller youngsters are unable to handle themselves.

Parade route set up is south on Lawe street to Main avenue and Second street, east on Second to Dodge street and then north on Dodge to the fishing area behind the softball diamond. Plans call for some members of the band to be on hand to help lead the parade.

Two Accidents Involved in Court Cases

Waupaca — Police Justice George Whalen heard three traffic cases Monday, two of which involved drivers who lost control of their cars.

Gordon C. Williamson, 37, 535 S. Wilson street, Little Chute, forfeited bond of $21.50 for speeding 49 miles an hour in a 30 mile speed zone. Marvin Mauthe, 25, of 234 W. Northland street, Appleton, pleaded no contest to a charge of driving too fast for conditions, and was fined $25 by Justice George Whalen.

Mauthe was involved in an accident June 5 when his car rolled over on a curve on Highway 142 between White Lake and Weyauwega.

Jerome Radtke, 19, Manawa, also paid a fine of $25 for driving too fast for conditions. His car ran off Highway 22-54 Sunday morning and turned over in a ditch.

Licenseless Anglers Forfeit Waupaca Bonds

Waupaca — Four persons paid fines or forfeited bonds in Police Justice George Whalen's court Monday night for fishing without licenses.

Ann Weisler, 37, of 844 E. Alton street, Appleton, forfeited bond of $21.50 for fishing on Partridge lake, and Tom Granowski, 19, route 1, Stevens Point, also forfeited $21.50. He was arrested on the Chain O'Lakes.

Michael Kurz, 19, Stevens Point, and Nita Tellock, 41, route 1, Neenah, were each fined $20. Kurz was arrested on the Chain O'Lakes and Mrs. Tellock was arrested on Partridge lake.

Arrests were made by Game Wardens Rex Oatman, Al Pope and Bill Carlson.

Car, Boat Trailer Involved in Crash

Chilton — Roland F. Revoir, 29, of 222 West street, Kaukauna, and Robert H. Seidl, 21, route 4, Appleton, were the drivers of cars involved in a traffic crash one-half mile south of County Trunk KK on County Trunk N at 7 p.m., Sunday.

The Revoir vehicle, towing a boat trailer, passed Seidl and cut back into the right lane too sharply with the trailer striking the Seidl car, county police said.

Peeping Tom's Alibi Not Good Enough

Nashville, Tenn. — Thomas E. Parker told police he climbed a tree outside a nurses' home looking for a bird's nest.

But a nurse complained Parker was a peeping tom. Police, who said Parker had climbed about 50 feet up, charged him with disorderly and offensive conduct.

Speeders Pay Fines In Chilton Court

Chilton — Four motorists admitted speeding during appearances before Justice Wilber Winch. Assessed $10 fines were Allen U. Van Daalwyk, 19, of 1111 W. Kimberly avenue, Kimberly; Robert W. Stuck, 19, of 848 Seventh street, Menasha; Daniel J. Ebon, 20, of 853 Seventh street, Menasha; and Adolph Hansen, 62, route 1, Thiensville.

Weekend to Find Radio Hams Testing Units

13,000 Short Wave Operators to Take To Field in International Contests

BY JINGO

This weekend 13,000 American and Canadian radio amateurs will stage a 24-hour emergency equipment drill and contest, contacting each other from mobile equipment on hilltops, parks and meadows.

At the beginning of the radio era, only a generation ago, anyone who took part in the brand new pastime could be called "hams." Now the "hams" are a small, but growing, group of dedicated men and women.

Although the preoccupation with the short waves can certainly be classed as an entertainment of a sort, the "hams" have proved themselves more than fun seekers. The field day this weekend will create artificially some of the heroic things these "hams" have done in war time and emergencies.

There will be Fox Cities "hams" participating. Why not seek them out and salute them for their good works?

NBC's Continental Classroom morning show had 543,000 students enrolled in the recently completed chemistry course. It would take from 5,000 to 6,000 classrooms to hold that many students. TV's magic piped the lessons through 125 network stations.

TV's penchant for western action shows has created a glut on another market. In this era of reality, the western stars are anxious to prove their mettle and have been booking spots in rodeos and fairs.

But now the real rodeo cowboys are complaining. The Rodeo Cowboy association, the riders and boondoggiers' union, is demanding that the reel cowboys join up—if they can—before making fair and rodeo appearances.

Perhaps the identification of the actor to the role is more complete than was expected. William Talman is known by millions as Dist. Atty. Hamilton Burger on the Perry Mason shows. In private life Talman may be little less concerned with law and order than on TV, but when a Talman segment was released on the Mason show recently there was hardly a ripple of the resentment expected. It's good news for the show. Talman was in a lot of reels held back and recently got off the hook in real courts.

The forensic medicine whodunit scheduled for premiere on CBS July 5 will star Chester Morris as the pathologist detective. It looks like the casting will come up to the script possibility. Remember "Diagnosis Unknown."

How about this? Newspapers' most famous comic strip is going to come to life on TV—as a cartoon. Chester Gould's famed Dick Tracy is being primed for early release. Watch for it. Jingo will.

Dorothy Parker's "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses" will get its commonplace. Brigitte Bardot will wear them in her next film.

Optical Illusions Alert Residents Along Coast

Depoe Bay, Ore. — In one day, residents of this coastal town were jarred by these reports: A tidal wave was coming, mysterious red objects were at sea, and there was a submarine lying off the coast.

The red objects turned out to be fishing boats, the submarine turned out to be a tug and the tidal wave didn't turn out at all.

Actress Bette Davis Poses with her daughter Barbara Merrill, age 13, in a waiting room in the court house in Los Angeles today. Miss Davis was on hand to press her claim for $85,000 in damages for injuries she contends she received when she fell into the basement of a rented home three years ago. She contends she suffered spinal and other injuries when she opened the door of what had been described to her as a closet, but turned out to be a basement.

MacMurray Makes Second Disney Movie

Idea Came Up While Filming 'The Shaggy Dog'

BY BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood — Having cavorted with a talking dog Fred MacMurray is now flying a Model T and making a basketball players leap 10 feet in the air.

If it had been any other studio besides Walt Disney's there would be MacMurray a "Shaggy Dog Talks Again." But Disney is dead set against doing sequels. Instead, he is following up his big hit of the talking pooch with "The Absent Minded Professor," also starring Fred MacMurray.

"This is a wild one," the actor admitted. "It's the wildest I've done since 'Murder, He Says In 1945.'"

Plays Title Role

Fred plays the title role, a screwy savant who tampers with the elements. One day in the lab he accidentally concocts a putty-like substance that induces weightlessness. He uses the stuff for all kinds of things, such as sending the school's basketball team to new heights and making his flivver airborne.

"The idea came up when we were making 'The Shaggy Dog,'" Fred said. "One day Walt came on the set and lurked in the background watching things, the way he likes to do. After a while, he told me he was thinking of another project for me."

"I didn't know Walt very well then. I went home and told my wife June about it, but added that I'd probably never hear about it again. The next day, our producer Bill Walsh told me he had been assigned to work on the new story."

Fred has now learned that Disney never talks idly. He has also learned other things about the Disney operation.

Gag Cut Out
"I found out he won't let gags interfere with the story, no matter how good they are," the actor said. "There was a sequence in the script where I'm flying the Model T. Any airliner flies by and in the cockpit are John Wayne and Robert Stack. They're whistling 'The High and the Mighty.' They both see this thing, but neither says anything. You hear their thoughts. You hear their thoughts."

"The older flier thinks if he mentions seeing a flying Model T he'll be grounded for sure. The younger flier thinks since the older flier didn't mention it he won't say anything or he'll be considered crazy. It was a funny sequence, but it was discarded. It would have slowed down the plot."

'Majority of One' To Tour in September

New York — After 570 performances on Broadway, the hit comedy, "A Majority of One," will go on tour, opening in Detroit Sept. 5.

Gertrude Berg and Cedric Hardwicke, stars in the Broadway production, will continue in their leading roles.

TV Industry Has Low Regard for Summer Fare

2 Producers Think Viewers Deserve More Than Reruns

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Radio-TV Writer

New York — For some strange reason, television programs which are the summer replacements for winter season shows have, in the industry's eyes, a rather low status in a status-conscious industry.

This certainly is not true of their status as far as the viewer, beset by re-runs and rebroadcasts is concerned. But this summer happily, at least two producers are attempting to provide winter-grade entertainment for the hot-weather audience.

One is Henry Jaffe, producer of NBC's hour-long mystery series of Sunday night. The other is Bob Banner, whose "Diagnosis Homicide" series will start July 5 on CBS. Both shows will take the place of vacationing variety shows—Dinah Shore's and Garry Moore's respectively.

Banner, particularly, has deliberately chosen to showcase his new series, concerned with activities of laboratory detectives, during the vacation period as part of a theory and a plan.

"In the first place, I don't believe that people stop watching television during the summer," he says. "They may not start their viewing while it's still daylight, but I'm sure they look at TV after dark. And even if a quarter of the public is on vacation, it finds TV sets where it goes."

war II, where about 1,500 student demonstrators yelled, "Yankee go home," and demanded that the islands be returned to Japan.

Setback in Japan
Cancellation of the Tokyo visit, the planned main stop on the president's Far Eastern tour, made the good will journey a combination of failure and success from the standpoint of personal diplomacy.

Whatever Eisenhower's disappointment, it was hidden in the glow of cordial hospitality that marked his arrival in Hawaii. Traditional symbol of the hospitality was the big lei of red carnations placed over the president's shoulders at the airport by Mrs. William F. Quinn, wife of the new state's first governor.

Hawaii's first lady bypassed another custom, however, in not planting a kiss on the president's cheek.

Her husband, a Republican, headed a delegation of state and military officials in welcoming Eisenhower on his first visit to Hawaii since 1952 when he was president-elect and on his way home from an inspection of the Korean battlefield.

Quinn praised Eisenhower, saying the residents of the island, "owe you a debt of gratitude for your long, unflagging support of statehood," won last year.

Eisenhower in turn described Hawaii as a place where "men of every race, color and creed live together in mutual satisfaction." He called this mingling of easterners and westerners an example for the rest of the world.

The president had a special greeting for the famed 442nd Nisei (Japanese - American) battalion of World War II glory. With men of the battalion in the airport honor guard, Eisenhower recalled that the unit had served under his command.

Strangles Baby After Wife Leaves

Dallas, Texas.—An homicide detective said a former inmate in a mental institution strangled his 21-month-old daughter Monday night after his estranged wife refused to come home.

Frank Hooks Humphrey, Jr., 38, was arrested for investigation of murder in the death of his daughter, Tena Cheri.

Capt. J. W. Fritz said Humphrey told him he strangled his daughter after asking his wife, MaeVonne, 18, to come back to him.

Humphrey said he went to the home of his wife's parents and urged his wife to come home.

When she refused, Humphrey took the girl to his home and telephoned his wife, saying he was going to kill the child and himself, police said.

Military Climbers Recover Bodies of Two Mountaineers

Walsenburg, Colo.—Bodies of two New Mexico mountain climbers who fell to their deaths on a glacier Sunday were carried down from southern Colorado's rugged Sangre de Cristo range last night by a military rock-climbing team.

The dead were Neal P. Campbell, 29, and Max E. Cooper, about 35, both employed at the scientific laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M. Campbell was president of the Los Alamos mountaineers.

Litters were used to lift the bodies from the side of 14,363-foot Blanca Peak. They were brought to Walsenburg after their recovery.

Second Lt. Carroll Dickson of Abilene, Tex., was in charge of the party of soldiers from Ft. Carson, Colo., who recovered the bodies. He said nearly eight hours were required to reach the bodies and bring them out.

The bodies were about 500 feet below the point where 15 companions from Los Alamos saw the men vanish.

Says America Is Unprepared for Arms Conferences

Washington.—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today the United States was not properly prepared for any of the four major international arms control conferences in the last two years.

He urged congress to appropriate $400,000 for the state department "to start the most important of its studies immediately"—that of preparation for arms control negotiations.

"There are signs that, either through inaction or inability, we are permitting the weapons development race to proceed much faster than the race for effective means of control," Humphrey told the senate appropriations committee.

"As we are determining scientific means of detecting and inspecting in one area of arms control, a counter measure, such as the decoupling theory in hiding underground explosions, is discovered, or a newer and more devastating weapon is produced, thus increasing the scope of disarmament problems," Humphrey said.

amendments. The house originates revenue legislation under the constitution.

Other Major Bills
Indisposing of the bill in a 14-hour session, the senate passed one of the major items it had to handle before final adjournment.

Other important measures still left include a minimum wage bill, a social security bill including health care for the aged, and the foreign aid money bill.

The bill passed last night extends for another year the corporation income tax and excises on liquor, wine, beer, cigarettes, autos, and auto parts and accessories.

These all are Korean war rates; they have been extended each year since 1954.

In addition, the bill continues for another year 10 per cent levies on local telephone service, telegrams and passenger fares made effective during World War II.

Rejects Cuts
The senate finance committee had recommended these be allowed to die June 30, at a cost of $752 million a year. The senate decisively rejected these cuts yesterday as a part of its fiscal responsibility drive.

Last year the senate voted to repeal both the telephone and travel levies. But in the

Judge Backs School Firing

Teacher Refused to Tell Board if He Had Red Affiliations

Santa Ana, Calif.—A judge has held that high school officials acted within their rights in firing a teacher who refused to answer questions about communist party affiliation.

The Huntington Beach Union High school district was upheld in a court case testing legality of its dismissal of Harold Collins. The house un-American activities committee had turned over information to the school board indicating Collins had been affiliated with communist organizations, it was brought out in court.

Under the California Dillworth act the school board asked Collins under oath whether the charge was true. He refused to say, on grounds that the board refused him permission to inspect the evidence. He also contended that the state law requiring him to answer was unconstitutional.

'Unfit to Teach'

The judge declared: "Collins cannot be a government employee, accept a salary paid from public funds, and at the same time decline to state whether or not he advocates destroying his employer. It is immaterial whether or not Collins is afraid to answer under oath, or sincerely believes himself a loyal American. . . in either event, he is grossly unfit to teach in our public schools."

The ruling may be appealed.

expire. Proxmire favoring it, Wiley opposing. Wiley voted against repeal of the federal tax on local telephone calls and telegrams, while Proxmire favored the repeal.

Defeated were amendments to boost revenue by putting in an income tax withholding system on dividends and interest, to cut the oil and gas depletion allowance, and to prevent the use of capital gains tax treatment for depreciable property.

The senate rejected 45-37 an attempt by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) to add to the measure a $144 million increase in the share of federal grants for needy persons on the public assistance rolls.

The bill, in addition to the tax extensions, carries a 1-year $8 billion increase in the $285 billion permanent national debt ceiling. This would replace a $10 billion increase expiring at the end of this month.

5 Corporations Fined for Illegal Restraint of Trade

Milwaukee.—Five corporations and five individuals were fined a total of $94,500 Monday by U. S. District Judge Robert Tehan after they pleaded no contest to a charge of illegal restraint of trade in the sale and distribution of folding gymnasium bleachers.

The corporations and individuals included:

Crosby-Miller corporation, Berlin, Wis., $10,000, its president, John C. Miller, $3,000; the Fred Medart Manufacturing company, St. Louis, $10,000; Wayne Iron Works, Wayne, Pa., $20,000, its executive vice president, Charles M. Wetzel, $3,000; Universal Bleacher company, Champaign, Ill., $20,000; its president, Donald E. Vance, $3,000; the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Chicago, $20,000, and its production manager, Jack B. Shipman, $2,000; Fred H. Corray, Urbana, Ill., who acted as consultant to the defendant firms, was fined $3,500.

Japanese Toy Makers Fear Loss of Market

Tokyo.—Worried over reports of a campaign against Japanese goods in the United States, Japanese toy makers messaged President Eisenhower today that most Japanese are pro-American.

The assurance was in a letter sent by the Federation of Export Toy Manufacturers cooperative in Tokyo through the U. S. Embassy here. A federation spokesman said. The letter apologized for the Japanese government's decision to postpone Eisenhower's visit here, which was due to "a series of collective violence committed by some limited radical group."

American companies were reported cancelling orders for Japanese goods because of the recent riots.

Toys are one of Japan's biggest exports to the United States.

Man Freed of Murder Charge

San Antonio, Texas.—A member of a prominent ranching family was freed of a murder charge Monday because an indictment failed to specify if he wore shoes when he allegedly stomped a man who later died.

Dist. Judge John Onion's action freed Frank Davis, 51. The charge of murder with malice grew out of the death of Attorney James L. Drought, 41, who died Feb. 17, two days after his car and Davis' collided.

The indictment charged Davis beat and stomped the attorney.

Judge Onion said the indictment was insufficient because it alleged "murder by kicking, stomping and stamping with his, Frank C. Davis' feet, because it fails to charge the means employed in the commission of the offense, to wit, it does not state whether done with shoes or without shoes."

Dist. Atty. Charles Lieck, Jr., said he would re-submit the case to the July grand jury.

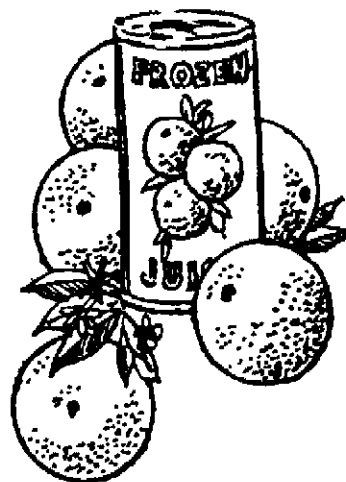

superintendent for the health department, said he doubted the Bay View and South Shore beaches could make a comeback from the pollution problems in the area.

Chlorinating the effluent from the Jones Island sewage treatment plant, Barry said, would cost $100,000 a year.

Cites Excuses For Absence From Church

God's Invitation Must be Considered, Rev. Humbert Says

The conflict between people's desire for God and the excuses they offer for not attending church was the subject of a sermon preached Sunday by the Rev. Harold P. Humbert, pastor of First Baptist church.

The pastor told of a parable told by Jesus in which a man prepared a banquet for his friends, but found his friends made excuses and would not come. The man saw through the excuses and told his servants to go out onto the roads and invite anyone who would come.

This is comparable to Jesus' statement: "For I tell you, none of those men who were invited shall taste my banquet," the pastor said.

Property Excuse

The excuses used by the men in not attending the banquet are still used by people who do not attend church, the Rev. Mr. Humbert declared. One of these is the property excuse, the pastor said. "It is not wrong to own property as some are teaching in this 20th century — property adds stability, security and self-confidence to people. Property owners are an asset to any community and church. "Anything which is good, however, can also become a stumbling block and destructive to the human personality. Possessions, and the lust for them, can destroy our spiritual relationships with God and warp and shrivel our personalities," the pastor maintained.

Work As Excuse

The Rev. Mr. Humbert said every pastor is faced with the property excuse — as the people who say they have to stay home and work on their house. "Whenever your property becomes your excuse for not being able to come to worship in church, you need to be very careful your property does not destroy you."

The second excuse is the work excuse.

The Bible makes it clear Christians are to labor diligently to earn a living. The Bible has severe condemnations for the lazy. "But we must not let our work become an excuse for fellowship with God."

"Our work activities consume a large and important part of our lives, but we must not excuse ourselves from dining at the Lord's banquet table," he said.

The pastor added that some people might try to excuse themselves from church activities for legitimate reasons, such as shift work Sunday mornings, but there are other opportunities to worship, and for most people it is an excuse and not a good reason.

Family Life

The third excuse is the family excuse, the Rev. Mr. Humbert said.

"A pastor hears this excuse all the time." He said people claim they must visit relatives or their children distract them or they have a big meal at noon and must prepare it.

"Family life is ordained of God. He knew when He created families that there would be times when sickness of a child would keep the parents home. . . but to let the family be a constant excuse for absence from the house of God is to lay the blame on God for our inability to come to His spiritual banquet table."

"God will not force any individual to His banquet table or to enter His heaven at the sword's point. The invitation goes forth to all, 'Whoever will.' But when some of us pretend to be interested in God by continually offering our excuses, God can see our insincerity."

"God wants us to have property, a good stable job, and a family. The real issue, however, is our desire for God," the Rev. Mr. Humbert said.

'Double Standard' of U. S. Foreign Policy Analyzed

The double standard of "all war?" by Leo Peria, devotes the first of a 2-part volume to a study of the double moral standard for national and personal conduct and for international intercourse. The new volume, currently among the books on display at the Appleton public library, also includes a section on appeasement, limited warfare, missiles and the current U. S. position in world affairs.

Armchair mountaineers will enjoy "The Last Blue Mountain," by Ralph Barker, the story of the ill-fated attempt to conquer Mount Haramosh in the Himalayas. The true story, as it approaches the tragedy which ended the 1967 expedition, becomes a study in the brotherhood of man. Lincoln in New York In 1860, Abraham Lincoln made a speech in Cooper Union's Great hall, New York, that won him the support needed to gain his nomination for the presidency. "Abraham Lincoln Goes to New York," by Andrew A. Freeman marks the centennial of both the Lincoln speech and the opening of the famous Cooper hall. Other non-fiction titles are: "Alaska in Transition," by George W. Rogers, a study of the development of Alaska's southwest region; "Let's Go Flying," by Martin Caidin, a guide to fun, skill and safety in flying private planes and "Pat Garrett," by Richard O'Connor, a biography of the famous marshal who killed Billy the Kid.

Herbert Gold, a short story craftsman and author of four successful novels, has published a new collection of short stories. The theme of "Love and Like" is love in its many forms—romantic, erotic, conjugal, parental, filial. Enmeshed with the love in the 14 stories are jealousy, hope, responsibility and ambition. Each selection is a picture of the joy or sorrow of love.

Meaning of Life French novelist Eveline Mahyere committed suicide shortly after she completed "Will Not Serve," a story apparently patterned much after the life of its author. It is the tale of a young girl whose search for a meaning of life is doomed to failure, but has an element of glory. "The Country Girls," by Edna O'Brien, is a brisk, fresh story of two beautiful young Irish sisters, tossed out of a convent, who descend upon Dublin and the world of men. The author uses a mixture of apple blossoms and earthiness to gain her results. Other new fiction titles are: "Martha, Martha," by Patricia McGerr, the reconstruction of the Biblical Martha; "The Horses of the Sun," a story about a fun-loving countess and a motley assortment of characters living near or with her on the island of Elba and "Womanhunt," by Mark Derby, which mixes a foreign agent with an investigation of communist activities in Malaya, a tiger hunt and a beautiful woman.

Lawrence Says Administration To be Sterner With Russia Moscow Instructs Communist Agents To Stir Up Trouble

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Memories are short, so it is important to retrace the steps that made the American people believe "summit" conferences would solve their troubles with Moscow.

Newspaper files will show that President Eisenhower again balked at "personal diplomacy" and the "summit" idea. He repeatedly said he saw no good unless agreements on fundamental issues were reached in advance.

But spokesmen for the Democratic party thought otherwise. Again and again, Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, the Democratic chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, kept prodding Eisenhower.

Sen. Fulbright on Jan. 30, 1959, criticized the administration for appearing unwilling to negotiate the issues dividing East and West. He also declared that the U. S. should be willing "to explore the possibilities of arriving at some understanding" with Red China leading to its recognition. He indicated that the administration too often took a "rigid" position.

Senator Promotes "Summit"

The Arkansas senator became so enthusiastic about "summit" conferences that in March, 1959 he declared they should be held at least twice a year. Again, on June 7, 1959, he said, "I can't see any great reason to fear a summit, and talk things over. If nothing comes of it, what harm is done?"

The Soviet government has been taking Fulbright's comments seriously and quoting them with approval. In fact, divided government in America—with one party controlling the White House—makes it difficult for the United States to speak with one voice.

The communist game, of course, has been to use "summit" conferences as a form of blackmail. When the four foreign ministers Geneva meeting ended in failure, this correspondent wrote in June, 1959:

"Nikita Khrushchev has presented another exasperating contradiction. In one breath, he says that the Soviet government would not agree to a 'perpetuation of the occupation regime in West Berlin,' and, in another, he says urgent international questions can be settled only at a 'summit' meeting."

"This is merely a way of announcing that, if Eisenhower is willing to surrender at a 'summit' meeting, all will be well in the world. The Soviet

Three-Year-Old Richard Van Dera knows what it is to be lonely—even in a crowd. While Appleton police used every power at the department's command Monday to find the lost boy's parents, Richie sat disconsolately on the steps inside the station. Richie brightened later, however, and friendly policemen brought him candy, sandwiches and milk. He was found strolling aimlessly near St. Joseph church about 10:45 a.m. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Dera, 1015 N. Superior street, called the station about 2 p.m. frantic with worry that their son had strayed away. Ritchie, his yen for travel satisfied, happily returned to more familiar ground.

Lawrence College Is Site Of Six Summer Conferences

Six conference groups will be quartered in Colman and Ormsby halls, with meetings during the summer months.

The Institute of Paper Chemistry's fifth industrial seminar began on June 15 and will extend to July 7, using the Worcester art center for its meetings and the Phi Kappa Tau and Delta Tau Delta fraternity houses as dormitories.

Lawrence's second executive seminar in the liberal arts meets from June 19 to 30 in the art center and the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house, with Dr. Herbert Tjosem, assistant professor of English, in charge.

A state meeting of the PEO in perspective, the anti-communist feeling in the West generally will have been strengthened by recent events. Disillusionment with Soviet Tactics will bring about the tougher policy that the Western countries should have pursued.

The Tokyo episode and the Khrushchev tirades and insults will eventually make the West more resolute. Inflexibility is needed to deal with the dictatorship—as the late John Foster Dulles vainly strove to convince the world in the many years he stood up to the communist threat, only to be derided by Democratic party critics as engaging in "brinkmanship." What is needed today is some stern "brinkmanship" and resoluteness in facing Khrushchev, just as a similar attitude toward Hitler in 1938 and 1939 might have averted World war II.

Nelson Reappoints Nominees Quietly

Nusbaum, Carley Rejected by Senate, Face New Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
 Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson has reappointed to top offices in his administration two of his friends and closest associates, whose nominations were rejected by the state senate last month.

Nusbaum

 The governor acted quietly, without public announcement. But the official docket of state gubernatorial commissions in the secretary of state's office shows new appointments by the governor for Joe E. Nusbaum, perhaps the most powerful of the appointive officials as commissioner of administration, and David Carley, director of the department of resource development.

Their commissions, for indefinite terms, were dated June 3. They took their oaths of office June 6. Both were originally named by the governor last year, when their agencies were created.

Routine Matter

The governor's office said today that the reappointments were made after it was found that by law they were necessary since the legislature had adjourned without confirming the appointments. Since Carley and Nusbaum were already serving in their positions, it was considered a "routine matter," the governor's spokesman said, and of no unusual news value.

Sec. of State Robert Zimmerman informed the governor's office that the two men must be sworn in, and this was done on June 6 without ceremony. Under Wisconsin law the new appointments are interim appointments and

American Can to Get $40 Million, Enter Glass Field

American Can company filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission for an issue of $40 million of 30-year debentures. It also announced plans to enter the glass container business.

William C. Stolk, chairman and chief executive officer of American Can, said proceeds of the issue will be used to reduce bank loans, of which $34 million was incurred in the recent acquisition of Allison Lumber company, Inc. He said the company's initial investment in the glass container business would be about $6 million.

Stolk said American Can will enter the glass container business by setting up a subsidiary in which it will hold a majority interest. The remaining stock interest will be held by Wheaton Glass company, Millville, N.J., which will supply "management services and technical assistance" for the new enterprise.

must be acted on by the state senate within 20 days after the senate reconvenes. The positions are not for definite terms, and Carley and Nusbaum serve as at the pleasure of the governor.

Because they have not been confirmed by the senate, as the law requires, Gov. Nelson will be required to resubmit them next January when a new legislature meets, if he is elected to a second term. Or a new governor could drop them.

Meanwhile the history of the Nusbaum - Carley incident shows a parliamentary sleight-of-hand that caught the public and the press, and possibly some legislators, napping on the last, hectic night of the marathon 1959 legislative session on May 27.

As one of the final acts of the session, the senate approved a motion of Sen. Robert Travis, the Republican majority floorleader, to kill en masse all of the remaining bills, resolutions and other matters remaining before the house.

It was not explicitly stated at the time, and therefore went unpublicized, that the "other matter" included the nominations of Nusbaum and Carley whose names had been replying for months before a senate committee headed by Sen. Leo O'Brien of Green Bay.

The Republican senate did not want action on them, in part because some Republicans were not anxious to be recorded on the nominations. Democratic senators, on the other hand, did not want to force the issue because they feared that a vote would bring repudiation of two of the key men in Nelson's new Democratic administration.

That their nominations were literally rejected, however, and that the senate knew what it was doing is shown in the official journal of the senate's proceedings. The senate clerk wrote, without qualification, that the two men were disapproved for the offices for which the governor chose them.

Campaign Material
 Both men will figure in the Republican attack on the Nelson administration in the campaign this year, and Nelson has indicated, for his part, that he is willing to meet the Republicans on that ground.

In an unprecedented hearing before the O'Brien committee 10 days before final legislative adjournment, Nelson praised his men in terms as cordial as the capitol has ever heard any governor use in talking about his underlings.

Nusbaum heads a powerful new consolidated state service agency, created in part with the aid of Republican votes, but which some Republicans now are grumbling has far greater powers than they thought they were bestowing.

Carley's work is less controversial, but there is much antagonism toward him because he formerly worked for the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, a conservative organization on its viewpoints toward politics and government affairs. Republicans tend to look upon him as a political turn-coat.

Welfare Groups Will Honor Foster Parents

Foster parents in Outagamie county will be honored by five welfare organizations at a Foster parents' night at 8 p.m. Sunday at Hamley school.

The 108 foster parents in the area have been invited to a program sponsored by the Appleton Apostolate, Lutheran Welfare society, Outagamie County Department of Public Welfare, Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, and the United Community services.

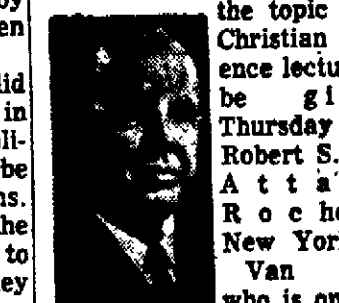

June 19 to 26 has been proclaimed Foster Parents Week by Gov. Gaylord Nelson. About 5,000 foster homes in Wisconsin care for 6,000 children.

Circuit Judge Andrew Parnell will be the toastmaster, and the Attie theater will present a play called "And You Never Know." Music will be provided by the St. Joseph school brass ensemble, and refreshments are being donated by the United Lutheran church women of Trinity Lutheran church.

The Rev. Peter Klauke, director of the Appleton Apostolate, is chairman of the program committee. Members are Vern Leach, Eugene Cerveny, Glenn Teske and A. R. Todd.

God's Law and Daily Living Subject of Christian Scientist

How the understanding of God's spiritual laws may be applied in daily living will be the topic of a Christian Science lecture to be given Thursday by Robert S. Van Atta of Rochester, New York.

Van Atta, who is on tour of The Christian Science board of lecturership, will speak at 8 p. m. in Stansbury theater at the Lawrence college music center. Van Atta's subject will be "Christian Science: Practical Christianity for Modern Times."

An engineer for a number of years, Van Atta has worked on the Panama canal and on railroad construction in Bolivia. He later was an aeronautical engineer with the air force. He has been a student of Christian Science since 1913, is an experienced public practitioner of Christian Science healing, and has been a Christian Science lecturer since 1946.

Nestingen States Opposition to 'Open Mind' Policy on Sales Tax

Gov. Nelson May Face Blockade at State Convention

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
 Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson and other elders of the Wisconsin Democratic party will find it difficult to put over their "open mind" position on a state sales tax when the Democratic party of Wisconsin at its annual convention meets in Milwaukee to write a campaign platform this weekend.

Mayor Ivan Nestingen of Madison, a Democratic leader, today declared his unqualified opposition to a sales tax revision of the state tax structure, for any reason, or any purpose.

Not Palatable

The mayor sent out a formal press release announcing his position, indicating that there is likely to be a fight on the convention floor Saturday if there is any effort to modify the party's traditional position on the subject.

Nestingen responded tartly to the governor's plea that his party keep an "open mind" on the subject. He previously worked for the Wisconsin Telephone company.

on tax policy until his "blue ribbon" tax investigation commission makes its recommendations, probably late in the year and after the fall elections.

"The study of that committee will scarcely make the sales tax a progressive tax. Nor would its recommendation for adopting a sales tax make it a palatable tax or remove its burden from those least able to pay. Nor would the recommendation of the tax study committee relieve the Democratic party of Wisconsin of its obligations to abide by its meritorious pledge and to think for itself on this important issue," the mayor said pointedly.

Higher Income Tax

Nestingen is one of the most active of the city hall politicians in demanding greater slices of state treasury income for the relief of local property taxes.

The tax study commission has suggested that if it endorses a sales tax in some form, it will be primarily, if not exclusively, for the purpose of cutting local property levies, or preventing their increase in a period of inevitably rising governmental expenditures.

Nestingen's position, if shared by the convention, will have the effect of pledging the party to higher income taxes, to meet governmental cost increases and the pressure for the alleviation of property levies.

Nestingen claimed that continued opposition to the sales tax is the only way that the party can "keep good faith" with the people of Wisconsin because of its historic position.

Nestingen has a practical recollection of the fact that some of the most successful candidates on his Democratic party ticket keyed their vote appeals to denunciations of the sales tax. Among them are Sen. William Proxmire and Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds. The fight on the convention floor at Milwaukee is likely to develop into one involving semantics.

Nestingen and a probable majority of the delegates will insist upon a tax plank that candidates can use to show their continued abhorrence of the sales tax alternative in state and local financing.

Gov. Nelson and others who feel they will face the immediate responsibility of managing state finances in a period of enormously increasing spending pressures—hope to settle for a general declaration that won't close the door entirely in the event that the "blue ribbon" commission provides a formula for tax reform through a sales tax.

They would be content, it appears, with a generalized statement like that of the Republicans a month ago who merely called for a "more broadly based" revenue system as a means of property tax reform.

Envelop Firm Votes Down Merger Stymied By West Virginia Pulp

As anticipated, stockholders of U. S. Envelope company at a special meeting voted down a proposed merger with Hammermill Paper company. The issue actually was set for last month, when West Virginia Pulp and Paper company had acquired 882,612 shares or 52 per cent of U. S. Envelope stock to prevent the merger.

David L. Laha, president of West Virginia Pulp, previously said the cost of acquiring controlling interest was expected to be about $13 million.

Home Furnishings Show Offers Firsts in Styles

Whether it has an elegant, the latest colors. There are old or a modern look, the new-knitted, woven and tufted carpet furniture is rich in color. This delightful prediction for 1960-61 home interiors comes from W. O. Ollman, general manager of the Merchandise Mart, where the giant International Home Furnishings market is taking place through June 30.

"Color painted into wood plays a big role in new furniture design," said Mr. Ollman. "It contributes warmth and accent." It expands the mix and match possibilities from a single furniture line, creates new opportunities for highly individual home interiors. Important color and varied design apply as well to new floor covering fashions, draperies and other home furnishings.

However, fashion, shape and color are not the only new things coming out of the market. A piece of furniture that is also a lighting fixture has been developed.

Blend Styles
Traditional styles and blends of period styles, especially from neo-classic, Italian and other Mediterranean sources, are counter-balanced by modern. Style mixing may be a blending of design characteristics or separate pieces may recall different periods.

Throughout all styles and blends, modern practicality is the rule. While not found in every collection, painted furniture is no longer confined to a few styles, a few pieces or even a few colors.

Upholstery fabrics, too, provide opportunity for accent color. There are fabrics in such strong shades as burnt orange, red, bright blues, purple on blue and olive green. Hand screened decorations, ornate hardware and gilding are among many different means of decoration.

Mix Old, Elegant
Even floor coverings mix the elegant old with the new. Royal purple, bright blues, lilac and new reds are among

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLIER

New Upholstery Fabrics Turn Traditional

The next sofa or lounge chair on the home shopping list is most likely to be a charmer in a traditional-minded, patterned fabric. Plain upholstery fabric steps aside in the new home furnishings market previews in Chicago this week as pattern turns in star performance. The new patterns proclaim the beauties of intricate weaving, and while sometimes they appear through the contrast of dull and bright in one shade of one color, they also show various shades of the same color, or wonderful harmonies of several colors.

Top examples of the new fabrics are by no means reproductions of old fabrics, but are new designs by today's masters of the loom. One stand-out collection from which six designs are sketched are by Boris Kroll, who became so well-known for his strictly contemporary fabrics that it is especially fascinating to see him turn to traditional inspiration. But Mr. Kroll produced a unique Oriental series not too long ago and a modernized Venetian series last year, and added distinction to both styles, just as he has to his new and widely varied traditional collection. Originality of coloring is a high point, and the fabrics are practical as their ancestors never could be both from Mr. Kroll's weaving methods and his wide use of nylon.

Your Problems

Gun in Car or Not, Man Urged Not to Park Beside Roadway

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a friend who thinks it's all right to carry a gun in the glove compartment of his car. He frequently parks in a lonely spot with his girl friend and says the gun might come in handy one of these days. Landers

He got the idea from reading accounts of how innocent young lovers who were parked along the road were attacked by maniacs.

Isn't it against the law to carry a gun in a car? He says if you say it is, he'll leave the gun at home. What is your answer?—The Skeptic

Dear Skeptic: A special permit is needed to carry a gun in an automobile. Truck drivers or salesmen who carry valuable cargo may have need for a revolver, but young lovers should never park beside the road—gun or no gun.

DEAR ANN: I'm having trouble with my boy friend's mother. "She's trying to break us up."

Tom and I were supposed to be going steady. I decided to accept a date with another guy to see if Tom really loved me. Tom found out I was out with someone else so he took his father's car (without permission) and went looking for me. The police picked him up for speeding and also arrested him for driving without a license. (He's underage and can't get a license for another year.) This is the second time he's been picked up for this so now he's in big trouble.

His mother says it's all my fault. She claims if I'd been true to him he wouldn't be in this mess. Tom doesn't want to go steady any more because his mother is making his life miserable. Is this fair?—Mixed Up

Dear Mixed: It's a sad state of affairs when a boy who isn't old enough to get a driver's license becomes so tied up with a girl that he must go looking for her when she's out with someone else.

Tom's mother should not blame you for the trouble, however. She raised him. You only went with him. Stop this going steady nonsense. Both you and Tom will be better off.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is being married to a very nice girl. Her folks cannot afford to put on any kind of a wedding so we have offered to do everything. They are pleased and so are we, since we have three sons and no daughters.

We have a plan for entertainment after the ceremony but my neighbor who knows a lot about etiquette says it's not proper. I'd like your advice. We want to invite the relatives from both sides and also the close friends and neighbors. We will serve them all a buffet lunch after the ceremony which takes place at noon.

Then I would like to ease the friends out of the house and have several card games for just the relatives. They could play bridge, pinocchio or poker. After all, the religious part will be over and we want every one to have a good time. What do you say?—Groom's Mother

Dear Mother: I agree with your neighbor that it would not be proper to ease out the guests and set the place up for cards. If you want to have card games arrange it for another time and don't try to combine it with your son's wedding.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.) (Copyright, 1960) a genius and other players are just dimwits—but in no time at all you're bound to make some horrible error that even a beginner would know enough to avoid.

The scene was the world championship in Turin, a few weeks ago, and one of the American teams was playing Italy. Hundreds of spectators were watching each bid and play on the big exhibition board—all of which made it embarrassing when South fell on his nose.

West opened a spade to dummy's ace. Before you read about South's horrible mistake, suppose you decide for yourself how you would play the hand if you were South.

Now we'll see what South did. He led out dummy's ace and king of diamonds. Silly, wasn't it?

East ruffed the second diamond and returned a trump to dummy's ace. South still had to lose a club and two spades, for down one.

Easy Play
There is an easy play to make the contract. Declarer should lead a low club from dummy at the second trick. This trick must be lost in any case, and losing it at once gives declarer a fast entry to his own hand.

If the opponents return a trump to dummy's ace, South can ruff a club and draw the rest of the trumps. It is then safe to cash dummy's top diamonds.

If the opponents fail to return a trump, South can ruff a spade with dummy's ace and ruff a club to lead out trumps. He can then afford

Infected Blister Causes Vesiculitis, Says Molner

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of vesiculitis—the disease in which 'cold sores' break out in different parts of the body?"—H.T."

Sir, I guess I'm glad you asked this question, as the answer ought to be of some help to readers in general.

A vesicle is, in plain language, a small blister, a small cavity on the skin containing fluid. Bleb is another word for such a blister.

Vesiculitis is, then, a matter of getting some of these blebs or vesicles infected. The obvious cause of getting them infected is scratching them although that, of course, is not the only way in which an infection may establish itself. Still, scratching is the usual way, and it's the thought which presents itself to a doctor's mind whenever he sees to give up a trump to the jack.

The big difference between the expert and the average player is not that the expert doesn't make mistakes. It's just that he makes fewer mistakes.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: C—K J 10 3, H—J 5 2, D—Q, C—Q J 10 5 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. You are not quite strong enough to bid clubs first, and spades later. Show the major suit and await developments.

(Copyright 1960)

such a problem. Either the patient scratches the blebs, because they itch, or the friction of clothing, etc., irritates them and perhaps lets some infection set in.

Gives Examples

Examples of vesicles or blebs are the little blisters of poison ivy. Or cold sores (technically, herpes simplex) which arise from a virus and may follow a severe cold or appear after a high fever.

Shingles (or herpes zoster) is another similar affliction, and it is more likely to appear on or around the chest.

From experience, we know that stomach upsets, allergies and extreme nervousness can cause such blebs to appear.

Many times, if it becomes apparent what is causing them, it is possible to prevent a recurrence, or subdue any occurrence. Controlling the nerves, building up the general health, and the like are the most useful methods.

Several Remedies

Specifically, dabbing the blebs with alcohol is about as effective a method as exists—it helps dry them up and, of course, helps control or destroy any exterior bacteria which may be trying to find a lodging in any scratch around a bleb.

Strange as it may sound at first thought, a smallpox vaccination is sometimes helpful if attacks of this trouble are in the habit of recurring. Remember, smallpox is a virus, and it seems that a vaccination against it sometimes helps thwart viruses of (apparently) a similar nature even though they are not smallpox.

Finally, lest anyone complain that acute vesiculitis is somewhat different from the problem I've been discussing,

I will say, yes. Specifically, acute vesiculitis is a disease in which vesicles of the seminal tract are irritated. The patient's annoyance is considerable, but it is limited generally to the area above the groin.

Since the advent of antibiotics, this trouble is usually treated readily and hence it has become rare. But the remark in your letter, H. T., speaks of the spots breaking out on different parts of the body, so I think you'll find that my reply fits the case.

Soybean Milk

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please let me know what soy bean milk is made from. Does it come in liquid or powder?"—Mrs. A. R."

It's made from soy beans! It is a nutritive product coming from a vegetable rather than an animal source. It has various uses, an important one being for small children who (occasionally) are sensitive to cow's milk. It comes—rather than in either a powder or liquid—in a sort of thick, paste-like form, in cans.

Fatty Tumors

Mrs. E.B.: Nobody knows what causes fatty tumors. However, they are a harmless sort of affliction. If big enough to be a nuisance, they can easily be removed by simple surgery.

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of this newspaper, requesting my pamphlet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," and enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

False Lashes Look True

A lovely writes: My eyes are supple and this helps to prevent breakage. False lashes really are your only out. Made of real hair, on almost invisible stripping, new ones are designed for a natural effect. But it's all in the way you apply them. First off, trim false lashes to a length that suits your face. They are made in exaggerated lengths, just so they can be adjusted to the individual. In trimming, taper the lashes—narrow them gradually from the outer to the inner corners. Then clip the tips of every third or fourth lash. In reality, lashes are never even. Sometimes, although trimmed, lashes still look too much of a muchness. That is a cue to use only a section—about three-quarters of an inch at the outer corners. This results in a feathery sweep. (Caution: Trim lashes in the hand, never while affixed.) After applying lashes, brush them and whisk on a bit of mascara. In that way, the fake and the real become indistinguishable. Facial flaws both large and small can be repaired by make-up. How to give the illusion of perfection to imperfect features is detailed in my leaflet, Make-up Make-Believe. To obtain a copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin. (Copyright, 1960)

Campaigner's Spouse Keeps Pattern of Living

If the nation's voters should pick Lyndon B. Johnson to be their next president, America will have a first lady who is well acquainted with the problems and the pleasures of rural living, according to Mrs. India Edwards, co-chairman of the Citizens for Johnson National Committee.

From her childhood on a cotton farm in east Texas to her present capable management of the warm and hospitable LBJ ranch home in the hill country of central Texas, Mrs. Johnson, through much of her life, has been closely associated with country living. Mrs. Edwards pointed out.

Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of country merchant and land owner Thomas Jefferson Taylor and the late Mrs. Taylor. She was born Dec. 22, 1912, at Karnack, Harrison county, Texas, and was named Claudia Alta. But that name didn't stick very long because the family maid was so enchanted with the petite, dark-eyed youngster that she called her "ladybird," and Lady Bird it has been ever since.

With easy, informal efficiency.

Movie Pros New to TV Win Top Emmy Awards

Laurence Olivier, Ingrid Bergman Honored for Character Portrayals

BY JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood —A trio of old movie pros — Sir Laurence Olivier, Ingrid Bergman and Robert Stack — in their first try at television walked off with the top TV Emmy awards Monday night. Harry Belafonte became the first Negro ever to win an Emmy.

It also was a night that saw Jackie Gleason's former second banana, Art Carney, win an award for the best comedy show.

Olivier, generally rated the greatest English-speaking actor, won his Emmy for his portrayal of a character based on the artist Gauguin in "The Moon and Sixpence."

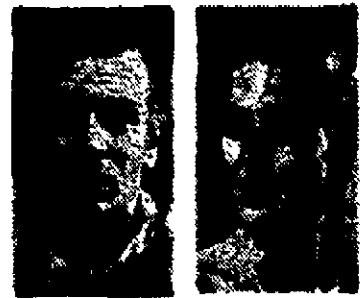

His award was accepted by Charlton Heston, this year's movie Oscar winner, who said simply: "I will say something that Larry would not say himself — he deserves it."

Surprise Gift

Both Olivier and Miss Bergman, a 2-time Oscar winner, were in Europe. The Swedish actress won her first TV award for the chilling "Turn of the Screw."

Stack, who plays the gang-busting Elliott Ness in "The Untouchables," would have won even if he had lost. His boss, Desi Arnaz, had a $12,000 Mercedes Benz sports roadster waiting for him in the parking lot. Stack won his Emmy as the best actor in a series. The award for the best actress in a series went to Jane Wyatt, the wife and mother of the Anderson family in "Father Knows Best."

Belafonte won for the best performance in a variety or musical program. He accepted

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Question: We are disturbed over our five-month old puppy losing his teeth. Is this a natural procedure?

Answer: The five-month period is sometimes a trying one for the pup AND his owners. The little animal is going through the natural process of losing his milk teeth. His gums are red and inflamed; he may suffer minor digestive upsets and he chews on almost anything he can find. If he has not been kept in a restricted area, it often seems he can only find the leg of your fine Chippendale desk or one of your best shoes to chew on. Along with patience, he needs calcium and vitamins in his food and hard toys and bones to help him loosen the troublesome teeth. Spare him as much stress as possible, such as rough playing with children. The front teeth or incisors are usually the first to change, followed by the "fang" teeth and molars. At seven months the process is usually completed and the furniture may be safely returned to the living room.

Hostess Fails to Send Taxi

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I was invited to spend last weekend at the house of a friend who lives in the suburbs. As I have no car, I went out on the train. When I arrived at the destination, I expected that my hostess, or some member of the family would be there to meet me and drive me to the house which was about five miles from the station, but there was no one there and after waiting for about fifteen minutes, I took a taxi to her house. I was a little annoyed over this and felt that some one should have met me at the station. Isn't it the obligation of a hostess to provide transportation from the station to the house for her guests?

Answer: It most certainly is, and if no member of the family could come to the station to meet you, she should have described you to a taxi driver so that he could recognize you and ask you if you are Mrs. Smith and go on to say that Mrs. Brown had sent him to meet you and drive you to her house.

Thanking Date

Dear Mrs. Post: I've just started going out with boys, only to the local movie and to church dances. Often we stop for a soda on the way home. When a young man leaves me at my door I never know what I'm supposed to say to him. Do I thank him for having taken me out?

Answer: You say, "Thank you, John, for a pleasant evening" or, "for asking me to the dance," or perhaps, "I enjoyed that movie very much. Thank you."

Coming Down Aisle

Dear Mrs. Post: When the bride is coming down the aisle after the wedding ceremony, is she supposed to look straight ahead or may she look around at the congregation and recognize particular friends?

Answer: She's not supposed to nod or recognize any particular friends, although she might possibly naturally smile should she directly catch the eye of someone.

Propose New County Home Rate Schedule

Suggest Cutting 16 Fee Variations To Minimum of 3

Oshkosh — Revision of admissions, regulations and rates at the Winnebago county home for the retired was recommended by the institutions committee of the county board this morning.

A noon-hour adjournment postponed action on new regulations suggested by the committee.

One basic change would be reducing the present 16 different monthly rates for residents to three. The new rates would be, if approved, $110 a month for minimum care, ambulatory residents; $135 for moderate care; and $160 for maximum care of bedridden patients.

These rates include room, board, laundry and nursing service and services of staff physician on his regular visiting days.

Clothing and medication requiring prescriptions would be extra.

The present rates are based on full pay, voluntary welfare, committed residents on social security and committed residents not on social security classifications.

Breakdowns — Each class had separate breakdowns depending upon amount of care needed by individuals.

Current rates range from $72 to $160 monthly.

These rates will begin Aug. 1 if approved. A motion to change the beginning date to Jan. 1 was voted down.

The admissions age was lowered from 65 to 62 years in the proposed resolution. Younger persons with disabilities may be admitted also.

All persons applying for admission must have physical examination reports with their requests. If a person is on full or partial pay basis, a financial responsibility form must accompany the application.

Serving as the admissions committee will be a member of the board's institutions committee, a member of the county's welfare board and a trustee of the home and counties hospital, as well as the staff physician, who will be an ex-officio member for advisory purposes.

Mrs. Virginia Nolan, Oshkosh, county institutions committee chairman, explained the reason for the rate change was to make the home for retired more nearly self-sustaining and to be comparable with other counties. She said the home always will need some subsidy from the county.

The suggestion of Supv. Arthur Struensee, Oshkosh, for evening visiting hours will be taken up at the next meeting with trustees, she said.

Ask Summary Judgment in City's Suit

never referred its resolutions to sell the land to the bank and to purchase the bank building to the city planning commission, which by statute is required before final council action.

5. The ordinance and resolution committee of the council never formally approved the two Feb. 16 resolutions;

6. The land, 11 commercial-zoned lots on heavily traveled Racine street would be valued at $100,000, not $57,000.

7. No bank-city agreement was formally executed.

Scanlon also asks the court to award him costs, attorney fees and disbursements in the litigation which he "brought for the benefit of the city of Menasha."

Attached to Scanlon's notice of motion for judgment are certified copies of park and recreation board minutes referring to "Racine Street Park" and other parks.

Two weeks ago, City Atty. Richard J. Steffens received council approval to file an amended reply to the complaint and striking a former city attorney's reply. Steffens said asking Mayor John Klein and City Clerk Harry Kind to testify that the land never had been used for park, playground or public parking would amount to perjury, since Scanlon plans to present photographs of the land in such uses to the court.

Surprise Party — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Preimesberger, who are moving to Van Nuys, Calif., next month, were given a surprise farewell party at Eagle hall Saturday evening.

Hostesses were the Mmes. Al Preimesberger, Einer Klaus, Clara Heindl, Robert Preimesberger, Alfred Preimesberger and Robert Kettleson.

Board Rejects Rezoning Bid Of Earl Hughes

Sought Commercial Class for Land Near Tullar School

Oshkosh — Rezoning to heavy commercial a lot owned by Earl Hughes adjacent to the Tullar school, town of Neenah, was rejected today by the county board.

The rejection was made at the recommendation of the board of adjustments and passed by 32-17 vote.

Supv. Warren Miracle, town of Vinland, adjustment board chairman, said the board recommended denial because of objections of surrounding property owners to spot zoning.

"If he had asked for all of the lots along the Tullar road north of the school to be rezoned, this would not have been so bad," said Miracle.

Supv. Laurel Heaney, town of Neenah, said Hughes had informed him he would be happy to apply for rezoning the entire area north of the school. Hughes appeared before the board and explained a purchaser for the lot involved wanted to build a $16,000 home and use the garage for storage of sheet metal working equipment. "The place across the road is commercial," Hughes said. "I own all of the property around it, and I do not feel there is anything objectionable" about garage storage.

Harassment — Supv. Amos Page said the purchaser was a furnace man who wanted a place to store new furnaces until installed. But Supv. William Kelsh, Oshkosh, said he understood at the hearing that the purchaser planned to do some fabrication work in the garage.

It's a matter of harassing the school district," Kelsh charged. "There seems to be a feeling about land for the school. The community as a whole should be given more consideration than an individual."

Hughes said it would take about 90 days after application is filed for rezoning the property before the petition can be acted upon. "He wants to build now," Hughes said.

CD Radio Test

Menasha — Amateur radio operators in this area will take part in the nationwide civil defense test Saturday and Sunday, when radio communications will be established in Jefferson park.

Club Marks 40th Year

Menasha — Charter members of Sacred Heart Mission club of St. Mary Catholic church were honored at the club's 40th anniversary dinner Monday evening at Hotel Menasha.

Charter members, who still are active in the organization, are Miss Emma Liebhauser, Miss Cecelia Liebhauser, Miss Veronica Voissem, Mrs. Thomas Zelinski and Mrs. Frank Zelinski. Absent at the dinner was Mrs. Henry Quella, Appleton.

Also honored were Mrs. Joseph Schindler, Appleton; Mrs. O. P. Dohr, Peshtigo; and Mrs. Anna Lynn, Tucson, Ariz., former members. Guests were the Rev. Joseph Becker, the Rev. Donald Stoegebauer and the Rev. Frank Melchoir.

Present officers are Miss Dorothy Stip, president, and Miss Emma Liebhauser, secretary-treasurer.

Awards went to the Mmes. Frank Zelinski, John Becker, Harry Kargus, Marcella Martin, Gertrude Röhre, Schindler Flynn and George Resch and Misses Mathilda Liebhauser and Dorothy Stip.

A history of the club was read by Miss Emma Liebhauser.

Board Advised Town to Quit County Library

Oshkosh — The town of Menasha may withdraw from the county library system next year, the agriculture and education committee advised the Winnebago county board today. This can be done, under state law, if the town contributes to another library.

Under the law, the town still must pay toward library service to the county library, if its payments to the city library systems are lower than the town's share in the county system on an equalized valuation basis.

Supv. Amos Page, town chairman, said it probably would be paying as much or more to support the Menasha and Neenah public libraries than it now pays toward the county library. He added that little use was made of the county library by town residents.

He mentioned this year that the town is paying $4,000 to the Menasha library in addition to the $6,000 it pays toward county library.

3 Points Saved are 3 Earned as Charge Of Speeding Is Cut

Oshkosh — Barry F. Remmel, 19, 328 12th street, Neenah, today pleaded no contest to an amended speeding charge and was fined $20 and costs by Acting Municipal Judge Floyd D. Atherton.

Remmel was arrested on Appleton street in Menasha June 16 by Winnebago county police, who charged him with speeding at 45 m.p.h. in a 25 zone. The charge later was reduced to speeding at 40 m.p.h. at the consent of the prosecution.

By reducing the charge, the court reduced the number of traffic penalty points against Remmel's driving record. Six points are assessed for speeds 20 or more miles an hour over posted speed limits, and three for up to 19 m.p.h. over limits.

Tell Marriage Of Judy Rather, Donald Olsen

Neenah — Mrs. William A. Rather, 429 Ninth street, has announced the marriage of her daughter, Judith Ann, to Donald H. Olsen, son of Mrs. Angelica Olsen, Oshkosh.

The marriage took place Saturday at Holy Innocents church, Long Beach, Calif. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Robert P. Brooks, San Clemente, Calif., formerly of Neenah.

The young couple was attended by Mrs. Samuel Hardy, Bakersfield, Calif., the former Elpha Brooks, and Edward Dobbins, Long Beach Calif.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobbins, Long Beach, Calif.

After a short honeymoon the couple will return to Fort Ord where the bridegroom is stationed.

Residents Travel in Europe

Neenah — Several Twin City residents will spend the summer in Europe. Among those who have already gone or will be leaving shortly are Mrs. F. C. Sawtell, 316 Clark street, and her grandson, William, a student at the University of Illinois, who will spend several months in Paris with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sawtell, formerly of Neenah.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Mahler, E. Forest avenue, with their daughter, Mrs. R. E. Stafford and her three children, accompanied by Miss Jamie Croy, daughter of Leo Croy, left last week. Richard Stafford will join his family in three weeks.

Miss Linda Forsgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Forsgren, will tour Europe with a group of students and will not return until September. She has been attending Mt. Holyoke college, Mt. Holyoke, Mass., but will transfer to the University of Wisconsin in the fall.

Three Months Cruise
Mrs. Ruth Falvey, 415 Park drive, will sail on the Caronia June 30 for a three months' cruise. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mennes, 649 Oak street, left Saturday for three months of travel in European countries.

Miss Emojean Below, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Below, Shore Acres, Menasha, will leave June 30 from Montreal on an eight week tour of Europe with Alpha Phi sorority sisters. She was graduated recently from Lake Forest college, Lake Forest, Ill.

Miss Marcia Catlin is spending the summer in Europe. In September she will enter an American school in Switzerland for a year's study.

Miss Nancy Hildebrand, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hildebrand, 351 Naymut street, Menasha, will spend the summer in France working for a French family and will attend the Sorbonne in the fall. She will remain abroad a year.

Chester Shepard Home Has Art Objects, Museum Quality Pieces

Neenah — Art objects, antiques and many pieces of museum quality in the Chester Shepard home, 411 Lake road, Menasha, will be on view to visitors on the "Homes Beautiful" tour, being sponsored Friday and Saturday afternoons by Neenah-Menasha branch of American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Shepard's father, the late Alfred Granger, was the prominent architect who designed the house. Many of their distinguished forebears contributed toward its furnishings. This handsome home, overlooking Lake Winnebago, is among a group of five homes to be opened for the tour.

On opposite walls of the living room are huge paintings of a stag and deer. These are very old Korean paintings on silk. Over the fireplace is another painting on silk, this one a Chinese ancestral portrait. More Chinese art occupies the mantel; on either side are intricately carved dragons from the Ming dynasty, and an even older carving of a horseman dates from the time of the T'ang dynasty, 618-907 A.D.

Against one wall stands a very old Coromandel wood desk and flanking it is a pair of exquisitely made chairs of the Adam period. The desk has inlaid designs of birds and flowers, lacquered in the oriental manner. The chairs have their original cane backs and needlepoint seats. A pair of matching cabinets dating from the Queen Anne period, are filled with delicate sets of cups and saucers. Also on one of the shelves is a fragile tea set of Meissen, bought in Germany in 1880 by Mrs. Shepard's mother.

Hidalgo Collection
Perhaps the articles in the room which the Shepards most enjoy are the wax figures created by Luis Hidalgo, noted Mexican sculptor. Hidalgo, whose family can boast 30 generations of sculptors, is a friend of the Shepards. The artist designs individual frames of Mexican silver into which he sets his waxen figures.

Two of his works, which were on loan to the Bergstrom museum, are a Mexican atop his donkey and a gaunt, lifelike Mahatma Ghandi. Several others in this prized collection are figures of children, one a small Mexican boy astride his burro, another a charming pair of kneeling little girls.

The Louis XVI stone fireplace, the oak flooring in an interesting herringbone pattern, several pieces of early American furniture, including an unusual high-backed chair with an apron effect below its cushioned seat, are among the items of particular interest in this room.

A hallway leading to the dining room is lined with shelves of handsomely-bound books, fronted with a pair of English 18th century tavern chairs.

Georgian Furniture
The dining room furniture is Georgian, all of it original except two chairs which are such fine copies they cannot be distinguished from the originals.

Over the Gothic fireplace of carved stone is a portrait of Mrs. Shepard, one of her as a child hangs on another wall. Portraits of family ancestors grace the other walls, one of them Mrs. Shepard's great-grandmother, Elizabeth Sherman, a sister of General Sherman.

Among the fine pieces of china and glassware in the room are colorful Royal Doulton tureens, a matching trio of early American camphor glass dishes, their covers decorated with graceful pheasants. Glass bottles and old vinegar cruets catch the sunlight on glass shelves in a bay window.

Illuminating
Mrs. Shepard's father was adept at illuminating, the art of lettering and decorating as in the manuscripts of the Middle Ages. In the hallway and on the stairs are two framed examples of his meticulous work, one a copy of a Cristina Rosetti poem, the other is the 91st psalm.

Further up the stairs are historic prints of Alexander Hamilton and General Sherman. At the top are portraits of Mrs. Shepard's grandparents. Her grandfather was Marvin Hughitt, one of the pioneers of the North West against a backdrop of Lake Superior, under whose leadership it expanded greatly.

Biedermeier Room
Several bedrooms will be on view during the two afternoons of the tour. Antique lovers will enjoy seeing a bedroom furnished entirely in Biedermeier furniture. Biedermeier was an Austrian W. Glover, Joseph VanLiesh-comic strip character of such out and Ronald Hamilton. great popularity that furnishings of that early period were

Urges OAS Action Against Pact Between Cuba and Soviet Russia

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Cuba has put itself, under Fidel Castro, in the position of menacing the United States on a much greater scale than is to be measured by the size and significance of the island. When Khrushchev visits Cuba, a mutual security pact will be agreed upon between Cuba and Soviet Russia. That, in effect, puts Soviet Russia on our door-step and would mean that Cuba would become part of the Soviet universal state. Under such a pact, Russia could establish submarine bases, military airfields and rocket pads in Cuba. This may influence other nations in Latin America.

Under the Monroe doctrine and the Platt amendments that would have been impossible. The United States would have acted immediately to protect this country from such a disaster. We revoked these fundamentals of American policy, but we are not left helpless.

The Organization of American States (OAS) has the authority to move into Cuba to save that country from communism. The Caracas 1954 declaration, in connection with article 6 of the Rio pact, reads as follows:

"...The domination or the control of the political institutions of any American state by the international communist movement extending to this hemisphere a political system of an extra-continental power would constitute a threat to the sovereignty and political independence of the American states, endangering the peace of America, and would call for consultation and appropriate action in accordance with existing treaties." The resolution recommended that each government should take measures to force disclosure of the identity, activities, and sources of funds of those who were spreading propaganda for international communism or acting as its agent, and that all governments should exchange information to strengthen the campaign against communism. The resolution was "designed to protect and not to impair the inalienable right of each American state freely to choose its own form of government and economic system and to live its own social and cultural life."

Some Latin American experts believe that if a free, internationally protected election were held in Cuba today, Castro would not be elected, particularly if the Cubans who have left that country during the Castro regime, returned to it to vote. Fidel Castro's popularity is waning and Khrushchev is coming to Cuba to bolster it.

Russia has long been annoyed that the United States and

Neenah Teacher at Summer Institute

Neenah — Joseph G. Braun, 769 Congress street, Neenah High school mathematics teacher, is attending a summer institute for secondary school teachers of mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation from Sunday through July 29.

The institute is being held at the Case Institute of Technology at Cleveland, Ohio. An objective of the course is to rekindle in high school teachers their enthusiasm for mathematics by giving them further insight into the science as a living intellectual discipline. The course also is designed to help teachers motivate able students to consider careers in science.

Turkey and Iran have mutual security pacts. Turkey and Iran are old allies of ours and have withstood Soviet efforts to infiltrate and to conquer them. Soviet Russia managed to take Iraq out of this group of nations, but Turkey and Iran have stood firm.

Soviet Russia could be engaging upon this Cuban gambit to bring pressure upon the United States to relinquish its relationship with Turkey and Iran. Instead of the United States containing Soviet Russia according to the Truman doctrine, Soviet Russia now is containing the United States.

This is a further extension of the Stalinist policy which Khrushchev has consistently opposed. From all that Khrushchev said and did prior to the Paris summit fiasco, it is clear that he believed in peaceful co-existence as a successful device for establishing Marxism in the western world. Whereas Stalin was successful in eastern Europe and in China, Khrushchev was making enormous and ominous progress in western Europe and the United States. He might have succeeded in lulling us into an easy apathy toward Soviet Russia and even Red China. But he can never change his position again, for we cannot trust him.

The Stalinists have regarded Khrushchev's methods as anti-Marxist-Leninist and this opposition to him has apparently prevailed. If by July 13, when the communist party meets in Moscow, Khrushchev cannot overcome this Stalinist opposition, it must be expected that the next serious step against the United States will come with Khrushchev's visit to Cuba.

The organization of American states has the responsibility of immediate action. If the OAS is incapable of performing in this obvious crisis, then the United States ought to go it alone. We cannot risk our security by remaining subservient to unworkable pacts.

the door with a tureen of soup. The K-Cers German hadn't worked out too well. His "suppe" might sound like soap but the German word for soap is "seife."

The broadened business horizon has affected headquarters and its departmental personnel. A big impact has been on the mailing crews. They now have an entirely different slant on postage rates, duties and international mailing problems. Names of countries in the Near East, Far East, Central and South America are becoming as familiar as England, France, Germany and Mexico.

The traffic department, planning and accounting departments, even the stenographic pool and other units with which the International Division correlates its work, all feel a part of this world-wide business. And there are more stamp collectors in Kimberly-Clark than ever before!

Traffic department personnel face new problems in getting commodities to and from foreign countries and becoming acquainted with their regulations and rates. The department's passenger agent now is almost as familiar with ship, train and plane movements overseas as she is with travel within the United States.

Personnel division employees have had to learn about passports, visas and other foreign travel regulations, what immunizations are needed in which countries and what is required for citizenship in this and other countries.

One Kimberly-Clark employee and his wife, while on extended assignment in Canada, adopted a Canadian boy before returning to Neenah. He has been reassigned to Canada on a permanent basis. If the son goes with them, he might lose his American citizenship rights.

This was solved by the taking out of citizenship papers for him in this country so now he is a citizen of both countries.

One German-born couple employed at the research and development office, here were going back to the native land for a visit. They traveled on German passports but their son, both in this country 13 months before, was issued an American passport.

Kimberly-Clark frequently has queries about its international operations, many from people who paraphrase the old navy slogan and wonder if they can "join Kimberly-Clark and see the world."

Four Area Men Enlist in Army

Menasha — Four Twin Cities young men have enlisted in the army through Master Sgt. Joseph W. Monteith, area recruiting counselor.

Enlisting under the high school graduate program were Fred Harold and Gilbert Wagner, both of route 2, Menasha, and James Waters, 229 Frederick street, who will train for six months in the same electronics class at Ft. Gordon, Ga.; and Michael Klinker, route 2, Neenah, who chose service with an armor division in Europe.

Under the "buddy system," the first three will be assigned to the same platoon, take leave together and be assigned to the same class.

Home on two weeks' leave is David C. Reuter, 744 First street, who has completed basic training at Ft. Benning, Ga., and will report to the southeast signal school, Ft. Gordon, Ga. He is a 1959 graduate of St. Mary High school.

Ask Annexation

Menasha — Winnebago Land company has petitioned for annexation of land lying northwest of Ninth and Racine streets to the city. Mayor John Klein will refer the petition to the common council at Tuesday's meeting.

ey Szilagyi, Milwaukee, took first place in the boys 15 and under doubles with a 6-2, 7-5 verdict over Bruce Frazer and Jim Voight of Milwaukee.

The girls 18 and under singles title went to Ann Klug of Milwaukee with a 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Nancy Laird, also of Milwaukee. Miss Laird won on default over Diane Gilbertson of Menasha. The latter won on Friday but couldn't continue because she had to leave for Toledo to re-bang home for the St. Mary's player team in the Jr. Wightman matches.

Fraser won over Dean Eisner of Manitowish 6-0, 6-2 for the honors in the 15 and under singles bracket.

Menasha — Bethel Lutheran scored 10 runs in the first inning on its way to a 13-12 win over St. Mary in the Menasha Church Softball league Monday night at the Sixth street field.

Breitenfeldt had two hits for the winners while Ed Lotz collected four and Jim Kersten and John Chapleau re-banged homers for St. Mary. Both teams had 14 hits.

Art Haferman was the winning pitcher and Roy "Doc" Kramer was charged with the loss. Both teams now have 3-3 league records.

Neenah — The Cubs rambled over the Tigers 20-2 Monday in the initial game of the Neenah Junior Baseball league. The game was called at the end of 34 innings.

The winners scored 12 runs in the first inning and seven in the third. Dick Rooz was the winning pitcher and Roy, the loser. Nick Hack- lost to Howard Schudson and stock had three hits and Mike Milken made two for the win- ners. Milliken had a home run.

Singles Winners
Dan Bleckinger, Oshkosh, won over Tom Vanderhyden, Menasha, 6-3, 6-3 in the finals of the boys 13 and under singles. The winners had seven hits and the losers had four. Dean Eisner and Mick- four. Randy Dederling had two hits for the Demons and Jim Meyer had a pair for the Ghosts.

Wolverines Win
The Wolverines registered an 18-2 triumph over the Boilers in another Grade 12 league encounter.

The winners made 18 hits, including three by Larry Hand- dler and Mike Malone and two by Pat Hassler and Dave Wollerman. Terry. Handler Crikelair on Sunday. He was unchallenged in the Saturday race.

The senior division of the X fleet is for boats which have one adult and one person under 16. Both the minor and senior division will race for trophies in the commo- dore and championship series and on holidays.

Moan had a homer for Ward 9 and he and Tom Stinski, Ted Stinski, and Steve Offenbeck all had two hits.

Brian Koehn tripled to send home two runs in the last of the seventh to give Wards 3-5 an 8-7 triumph over Wards 4-7 in another Midget league fray.

Lyle Gast was the winning pitcher and Pete Hackstock, the loser. Roger Voster, Koehn and John O'Brien had two hits for the winners. Greg Schultz and Larry Kuehl both had two for the losers.

Neenah Legion Squad Clashes With Oshkosh

Hawley-Dieckhoff Post Attempts to Even Record at 2-2; Menasha Takes on Kaukauna

Neenah — The Neenah and Menasha Junior Legion teams both are scheduled for mid-week Fox River Valley Junior Legion league action, Neenah at Oshkosh tonight and Menasha at home against Kaukauna Wednesday evening.

The Hawley — Dieckhoff post attempts to square its record at 2-2. After losing 1-0 run decisions to Mayville and Fond du Lac in its first two outings, the Neenah nine broke into the win column with a 7-5 win over Kimberly last Saturday.

Wet grounds forced postponement of Oshkosh's last two games. It was scheduled to play at Menasha last Thursday night and at Kaukauna last Saturday. Oshkosh downed Kimberly 12-6 in its first start. It has an 8-4 loss to Billings, Montana state champion.

Gary Johnson is expected to pitch for Oshkosh while Mory Handler or Bill Fahrenkrug will draw the starting assignment for Neenah. The Neenah High school nine, whose players make up most of the Legion team, beat Johnson in district tournament play a month ago.

Menasha will attempt to boost its league record above the .500 mark once again when it plays Kaukauna at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Menasha ball park.

Kaukauna bowed to Fond du Lac in its first start and was rained out in its next two. Lou Hemauer is expected to hurl for Menasha, probably against Tom Frank or Leigh Wachel.

Winnecoonne is scheduled to play at Kimberly tonight and to John Kirchgorg. DenDoo- the village team will engage ven was second and Jim and in its second game of the Bob Vogt third in the field of week Thursday night at Osh- six bats. The winning time kosh.

Sunday's E scow race went to Eric Isakson in the White Star. Oliver Smith placed second and Eric Bergstrom was third in the field of three. The time was 1 hour, 30 minutes.

Peter Isakson captured first place in Sunday's X boat race for skippers and crews 16 years of age and under. Margaret Baldwin was second and Barbara Buchanan third in the field of five in the min- or division.

Tom Babbitt won the senior division race over Marty Crikelair on Sunday. He was unchallenged in the Saturday race.

The senior division of the X fleet is for boats which have one adult and one person under 16. Both the minor and senior division will race for trophies in the commo- dore and championship series and on holidays.

Words often misused: Do not say, "I could of (or, would of) helped you." Say, "I could HAVE (or, would HAVE) helped you."

Often mispronounced: Thailand (modern Siam). Pronounce tie-land, accent on first syllable.

Often misspelled: Liniment (features). Liniment (ointment).

Synonyms: Probability, chance, likelihood, likeliness, presumption.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: deign; to think worthy or in keeping with one's dignity; to condescend. (Pronounce as though spelled "dane"). The social snob finally deigned to speak to the doorman.

Patterson KOs Johansson To Make Boxing History

Regains Title After 1:51 of Fifth Round

BY MURRAY ROSE

New York — Floyd Patterson showed he had a lightning left hook to match Ingemar Johansson's thunderbolt right and today held the coveted heavyweight championship for a record second time. The solemn-faced, 25-year-old New Yorker became the first former heavyweight champion ever to regain the title when he knocked out the handsome, hard-hitting Swede with a leaping left hook in 1:51 of the fifth round at the ancient Polo grounds Monday night.

"I think it was the hardest blow I ever hit anyone," said the elated Patterson. "For the first time I feel I'm a real champion."

First Loss As Pro "I told Ingemar he positively will get a third shot. I'd like it soon. In 90 days, if possible, I'm going to be a real champion."

"I'm going to think it over," said the downcast Johansson when asked if he wanted the third fight. It was his first defeat in a pro career of 23 fights.

He had soared to the championship heights last June 26 by demolishing Patterson on a 7-knockdown, third-round technical knockout. Now he found it hard to talk.

In regaining the most lucrative prize in sports, the young, broad-shouldered Patterson succeeded where eight other ring greats, including Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis, had failed.

At 21, Patterson went into the record books as the youngest heavyweight champion by flattening ancient Archie Moore with a devastating left hook in the fifth round at Chicago, Nov. 30, 1956.

Never again had he demonstrated the power of that jolting hook until Monday night. First, he felled the 194-pound champion early in the fifth round for a 9-count. Then he did it again with a leaping left that had all of his 190 pounds behind it.

The strong Swede hit the canvas flat on his back. He was out cold. Referee Artie Mercante could have counted 500. It was several minutes before Ingo was propped up on a stool in the ring and several more minutes before he was able to leave the bedlam for his dressing room.

Braves Stop Dodgers, Move Past Giants Into Second Place

Meet 'Frisco In Two-Night Doubleheader

Milwaukee — The pitchers are ready. Hank Aaron has snapped out of a slump and the Milwaukee Braves are hoping to make their big move in the National league pennant fight.

The Braves moved into second place ahead of idle San Francisco Monday night by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers, 4-1, as Aaron cracked a pair of homers and Joey Jay turned in a dazzling relief performance before a crowd of 13,639, including 2,549 Ladies night guests.

The victory advanced Milwaukee to within four games of first place Pittsburgh, which also had a day off. Now the Braves and Giants battle it out for the runnerup spot in a 4-game series opening tonight with a two-night doubleheader at County stadium.

Two Southpaws The Braves nominated a pair of southpaws—Juan Pizarro and George Brunet—to oppose the heavy-hitting Giants. Pizarro has a 4-2 record, while Brunet, recently called up from the minors, is 0-0 despite a 12-strikeout, 11 2-3 innings outing against St. Louis last Friday.

San Francisco planned to counter with southpaw Mike McCormick (8-3) and right-hander Jack Sanford (6-4) in the Milwaukee debut of Tom Sheehan as manager of the Giants.

Aaron, the 1959 NL batting champ who had been gripped in a slump which had sent his average tumbling to .279, snapped out of it with a bang.

5-Run Fifth Inning Seals Victory for Chuck Symeon

BY MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The fifth stanza was a big one for both City Foxes and the Fox Cities Foxes Monday night.

Just about the time that Patterson was putting the blocks to Ingemar Johansson in their heavyweight title fight in New York's Polo grounds, the Fox Cities Foxes were doing the same to Des Moines at Appleton's Goodland field.

A huge crowd of over 35,000 fans saw Patterson regain his championship on a fifth round knockout. Only 176 of the faithful were on hand as the Foxes shot ahead, 6-3, in a 5-run fifth inning. Fox Cities won, 6-4, behind Chuck Symeon's 6-hitter.

The crowd was the smallest in three seasons of Three-I league ball here and possibly the smallest in the history of organized baseball in Appleton. The fans who braved the cool and threatening weather (and most of whom sat in a

12 LL Teams To See Action

All 12 teams in Appleton's Little League will see action this evening in competition preliminary to the 8 p. m. Fox Cities Foxes-Des Moines game at Goodland field.

The six Western division teams will pair off against the six Eastern division teams in a series of 2-inning games. The first exhibition will start at 5 p. m.

The full schedule of baseball comprises the annual "Little League Booster Night." Proceeds from the promotion will be used to help finance the LL program.

The gates open at 4:45 p. m. Concession stands will also open at that time.

Right-hander John Papa (4-3) against Des Moines. Right-hander Jack McCracken (3-3) is the Des Moines starter. The game will be preceded by Little League exhibition play.

Symeon, $40,000 bonus right-hander, became the second college grad Fox in two nights to hurl 6-hit ball over nine innings. The Notre Dame alumnus' 7-strikeout, 5-walk effort was preceded Sunday by Pat (Southern California)

Says 'Ingo' May Have Been in Hypnotic State

Doctor Declares Fighters' Reactions Were Subnormal

BY BEN OLAN

New York — A leading expert on hypnosis said today Ingemar Johansson "could very possibly have been in a hypnotic state" during Monday night's heavyweight title bout with Floyd Patterson.

"Johansson's reactions seemed subnormal throughout. He appeared dazed in the ring and later when I saw him in the dressing rooms," said Dr. Ralph Slater, president of the International Academy of Hypnotism. Dr. Slater was at ringside at the invitation of Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato.

"Smiling Was Peculiar" "As Johansson came into the ring I noticed that he stumbled slightly," continued Dr. Slater. "Then he smiled almost all the way through the fight. Sometimes a person in a hypnotic state acts this way, like someone who's drunk. Certainly, the smiling was peculiar considering the seriousness of his task."

"Also, for one in Johans-

More Mature Patterson Says He'll 'Be Fighting Champion This Time'

BY JOE REICHLER

New York — "I definitely will give Johansson a return fight. I'd like to fight him in 90 days. I will be a fighting champion this time. I will fight early and often."

So spoke Floyd Patterson following his spectacular fifth-round knockout of Ingemar Johansson Monday night, a victory that made him the first man in boxing history to regain the heavyweight championship of the world.

This was a new Patterson, far different from the mumbly young man of a year ago who, after his stunning defeat at the hands of the Swedish challenger, let his manager, Cus D'Amato, do all the talking.

In Dressing Room. D'Amato is unlicensed in New York and was unable to sit in Patterson's corner for what was undoubtedly Patterson's greatest fight. He was much in evidence in the winner's dressing room at the Polo grounds, but Floyd spoke as if his manager was across the Harlem river in Yankee stadium. He was doing his own talking.

"For the first time since I won the title in 1956," Patterson said, "I feel I'm a real champion. I think the public finally will accept me. At least, I hope so."

The spectacular victory seemed to have done more to the 25-year-old Patterson than give him back his title. Throughout the hour-long session with newsmen in the steaming, crowded quarters, Floyd gave the appearance of being a much more mature, confident and decisive person.

"It was worth losing the title for this," he said happily. "This is easily the most gratifying moment of my life. 'I'm the champ again. A real champ this time. Do you know what that means?' The only person who might have really known was sitting, still stunned, still groggy, and still unbelieving, not 50 feet away, in the loser's dressing room.

"Was Careless" "I was careless, mumbled Johansson. "I was overconfident. Something like Patterson."

day, (at the Reid Muni and Neenah Ridgeway courses, respectively), has already entered four of its big guns. Don Strutz, Bob Ferrel and Don Jabas who authored the club's three best scores (143, 150 and 151, respectively) en route to the 1959 team triumph, have already registered. A n d , among this morning's new entrants is John Lindberg, 1958 tournament champion. BDM now is one short of the minimum five golfers to compete in team play.

2 Wins for Ridgeway BDM, with a 758 total, won by 16 strokes last year over runnerup Muni. The five lowest individual counts go into the team "hopper" in the final determination of the club trophy winner.

Ridgeway, the club which will play host to the Post-Crescent-sponsored tournament for the second straight year, is the only one besides BDM to win a team trophy.

Packer Season Ticket Sales Now Exceed 29,000 Plateau

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — The Packers have reached a new plateau in season ticket sales — 29,000!

Coach-GM Vince Lombardi announced today that orders for season tickets have hit 29,031 — an all-time record high. This snaps the old mark of 26,508 by 2,523.

And, what's more, Ticket Director Earl Falck feels certain that the 30,000 figure will be reached. This will leave less than 2,000 individual game tickets to be sold. The Chicago Bear and Detroit Lion games are already oversubscribed, leaving only the battle against the Baltimore Colts and Dallas Cowboys.

Thus, Lombardi and Falck agreed: "The safest and surest way to see the Packers this year is to purchase a season ticket."

The booming ticket sale struck a note with quarterback Bart Starr yesterday. "That kind of support is just the greatest thing there is in pro football by my way of thinking. When you know the fans are behind you like that, I just wouldn't want to play with anybody else in this league."

Starr is here with quarterbacks Lamar McHan and Joe Francis for a few days of blackboarding with Lombardi. They'll leave later in the week and return when official drills start July 23.

WHY MEN WHO KNOW BEST—USE STP

German Developed SUPER LUBRICANT

...addition of STP to high grade oil solves all lubrication problems...!

TOM YOUNG, Wachapreague, Va. Member, Marine Racing Hall of Fame

Winner of more than 200 trophies and 3 U.S. High point Championships, youthful Tom Young (Ripley called him "The Tow-headed Mechanical Genius") has proved to himself the protective power of STP under critical high-speed hydroplane racing conditions. "Last summer I ran the engine at full throttle for two miles after the oil pressure had dropped to zero. I was amazed to find internal parts perfectly lubricated... (thanks to) STP's high flash point and positive coating qualities... My RPM output is increased because of the reduction of friction. At home we use STP in everything from the lawn mower to the family car."

STP Protects, Improves Your Car's Performance, Too!

100% pure petroleum concentrate, STP blends perfectly with oil to reduce friction and wear, remove carbon and varnish deposits, smooth and quiet older engines, keep new engines running new longer. Product of German research, STP has proved its worth in on-the-road tests by trucks and cars throughout the United States and Canada. Add STP next oil change.

Patterson Strikes Blow For Spartan Training

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
New York —/P— Ingemar Johansson threatened to revolutionize the time-honored routine of fight training, but the revolution is over.
When Floyd Patterson demolished the handsome Swede in winning back the world heavyweight title at the Polo grounds Monday night it was a victory for Spartan training over the plush country club atmosphere.
Johansson astounded the critics with his casual, play-boy approach to the first fight a year ago. When he stopped Patterson in three rounds and won the championship, the general idea was that down through the years fighters had been unnecessarily punishing themselves to get into condition.
Same Routine
Ingemar made believers of the fans with his easy-comes-it system, and when he followed the same routine preparing for his title defense there was no criticism. He would dance. He would journey to New York from Grossinger, a trip of more than 100 miles, to appear on television. He would play golf, and ride horseback, and swim, and otherwise enjoy himself.
He lived in the family circle, and it was one big holiday for his parents, his brother and his wife, and his comely fiancée.
Patterson had been holed up in a bleak, abandoned old road house hidden away on a by-road in Connecticut. He had been there since last fall, leading the rugged life with only his trainer and sparring partners as company.
Until the fight was signed and sealed and the publicity guns began to boom, visitors were few. And in the long, lonely hours Floyd had plenty of time to figure out his errors of the first fight, and ponder his strategy for the return.
Little Charley Goldman, who trained Rocky Marciano throughout his undefeated career as champion, thinks he has at least part of the answer to Johansson's crushing defeat Monday night.
Marciano also trained at Grossinger's up in the Catskill Mountains. But he isolated himself in an old farmhouse high up on a hilltop.
"Johansson was training as if he was going to do six rounds of sparring," Goldman said after watching Patterson take out the Swede in the fifth round.
"Patterson trained for a fight. Johansson trained for a light sparring session. That's all there was to it."

Next Sunday's Games:
Black Creek at Nichols.
Bonduel at Landstad.
Navarino at Hofa Park.
First place Navarino plays at fourth-ranking Hofa Park Sunday in the Dairyland Baseball league.
Navarino bounced Nichols, 11-5, last Sunday to remain in first place alone.
Defending champion Bonduel broke a 2-game losing streak and stayed one game back with a 4-3 triumph over Hofa Park. Black Creek dropped Landstad, 4-3, to push the losers deeper into the cellar.
Jerry Herb pitched Navarino to its victory with a 3-hitter over the first eight innings. He allowed only one run. The loser was starter Kay Plamann, who went the first 2 and 1-3 frames.
Jack Herb homered and had three singles in six trips to pace the victors. Jim Herb went 3-for-5, with three singles.

Kansas City Wins, 9-6, Over Bosox

(From AP Dispatches)
In Monday's only American league game, Kansas City defeated last-place Boston, 9-6.
The seventh place A's won with a 3-run seventh, capped by Harry Chiti's home run with a man on.
Hank Bauer's double and single by Norm Siebern cracked the 5-5 tie and handed Tom Borland, (0-2) the defeat. Marty Kutyna (2-2) won it in relief for the A's, who also had a home run from Andy Carey.

Floyd Promises Ingemar Early Return Bout

son was in our first fight." The good-looking Swede looked like a beaten fighter. His face showed the pounding he had taken for five rounds before a long, lethal left hook knocked him flat on his back at 1:51 of the fifth round. It took nearly 10 minutes to revive him.
Johansson at first either refused or just couldn't talk to reporters. After keeping them waiting for an hour, he sent word that he just wasn't up to it.
"He's shocked," said Edwin Ahlquist, manager of the stricken Swede. "He'd like to talk to you tomorrow. This is the first time in his life he's been knocked out."
Later, as he left the dressing room, with his mother, sister, fiancée and manager, he was asked when he thought he would be ready for a rematch with Patterson.
Ingemar stared blankly for a moment, then smiling sadly, he said slowly: "I'm going to think it over."

Johansson's fiancée, pretty Birgit Lundgren, who seemed to be the calmest person in the Swedish entourage, was asked whether her boy friend might retire.
"That is his decision," she answered. "He will have to do a lot of thinking."
Ingemar's mother, Ebba Johansson, seemed to be the most crestfallen member of the family.
"It was a real shock," she said. "I always see him win before. Now, he loses and it is not so easy to take."

Fox Valley Cab '9 Beats Pond's, 12-7

Fox Valley Cab defeated Pond Sports, 12-7, in a Babe Ruth league baseball game at the SSAC Sunday. Winner Dave Miller allowed eight hits, fanned six and walked none.
Bob Ochiltree and Dave Krueger pitched for Pond's, with Ochiltree taking the loss. Dennis Tiede, Gene Patzner and Allen Krabbe each socked two hits for Fox Valley Cab.

Cites Possible Hypnosis

son's excellent condition, he was on the canvas for an unusually long time after being knocked out (in the fifth round). This could have been the result of a post hypnotic suggestion.
There have been rumors "Ingo" was hypnotized by his personal physician, Dr. Gustaf Carlsson, before knocking out Patterson in their first match last June.
"The form of hypnosis Johansson received last night could have been very mild," said Dr. Slater. "Maybe they underestimated Patterson this time. In their first fight, Johansson may have been put in a somnambulist (very deep) state and this could have had a violent reaction and made him a tiger in the ring."
"Hypnotism can do several things to a fighter. It can give him more confidence, make him immune to pain and speed his senses considerably. It can work the other way too if given in a milder form."

Gharrity Can Make Up His Grade Failures

Madison —/P— Marty Gharrity of Shawano, a top performer in basketball and golf at Wisconsin, will be given a chance to make up grade failures and regain his 1960-61 eligibility.
Athletic Director Ivan Williamson said today the university had granted Gharrity's request to attend summer school and that a good scholastic showing to varsity competition.
Gharrity is a liberal arts student. Last season, he and teammate Tom Hughbanks of Green Bay led Badger basketball scoring with 312 points apiece.
Without the university's special permission to attend summer sessions, Gharrity would have been dropped from school until next February.

Aaron Tops Drysdale In Their Personal Duel

Don-Pitches Hank Tight Three Times, Yields 2 Homers
BY DAVE O'HARA
Milwaukee —/P— A tip to National league pitchers: Watch out if you use the dust-er against Hank Aaron. It only makes the Milwaukee slugger more determined at the plate.
Aaron came out on top in a personal duel with Los Angeles high-hander Don Drysdale and snapped out of batting slump with a pair of homers Monday night in helping the Braves to a 4-1 victory over the Dodgers.
Drysdale sent Aaron sprawling once and made him do a jig twice to avoid being hit and issued four straight balls just an inning after Hammer-in' Hank connected with his fourteenth homer in the second.

Cochrane Hits 71 to Pace BDM Golfers

Mike Cochrane shot a 1-over-par 71 over the weekend to highlight four under-80 rounds of golf for him and pace all shotmaking at Appleton Butte des Morts.
Cochrane also recorded a 76 and two 78s. Bob Ferrell, Jim McDonald and Leo Francis each 74s with Ferrell adding a 77 and Francis a 78. Don Jabas turned in a 78 while Bill Schleisner, Harvey Lhost and T. J. Sherry fired 78s.
The annual Butte des Morts June handicap tournament will be held Thursday through Saturday. Under a new system, the tourney will be on a 2-man, best ball team, low net basis. John Goehler is chairman of the 18-hole event.
Member Monty Luka and guest Jim McDonald were low in a "Guest day" event at Neenah Ridgeway. McDonald shot a 76 and Luka a 78. Other low weekend counts at Ridgeway were: Dick Spangenberg, two 75s; and Elmer Sellig, 77, 79.
Sub-80 rounds at Reid Muni were scored by "Doc" Wonsner (73), Tom Bauer (75) and Joe Kneice (79).

"Ammonia works wonders on my corn land"

TED KURPIUS OF GENOA, ILLINOIS, reports 80 bushels or better corn on land that used to make 50 bushels

"Ammonia has been used with a starter fertilizer since 1954 to help grow more profitable corn. We side dress 80 to 85 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia about the middle of June. It works wonders... really boosts corn output... speeds maturity. All corn is picked early and dried on the farm. Corn usually makes 90 bushels or better per acre. Side dressing ammonia is one good management practice we do not neglect," says Mr. Kurpius, who farms 520 acres.
Thousands of Midwest farmers use Phillips 66 Ammonia to help assure top net profits per acre. Field reports prove this 82% nitrogen fertilizer (1) produces more corn per acre (2) increases grain sorghum yields (3) boosts small grain yields (4) improves pasture for more meat and milk.
See your Phillips 66 Distributor now. You can depend on better ammonia service—more money for you from every acre. Phillips 66 Ammonia may be applied by you or your distributor.

School Board Refuses Any Use of Public Hearing Site

Bear Creek District Won't Allow Airing of Plan for Its Dissolution

The school committees of Outagamie, Waupaca, Shawano and Winnebago counties this morning were informed there would be no facilities for their proposed public hearing at Bear Creek tonight.

Members of the four committees were told that the hearing aimed at the dissolution of the Bear Creek district and its attachment to the Clintonville district has been cancelled.

A meeting of the four committees was called for 8 p.m. Wednesday at Clintonville High school to discuss the proposal and to set another date and time for a public hearing.

The law firm of Bogue and Sanderson of Portage, representing the Bear Creek school board, advised Henry Van Straten, secretary of the joint Bear Creek district in an action school committee, that since there was no formal request for the use of Bear Creek High school for the meeting, the school board was "forced to advise you that the Bear Creek High school will not be available."

3 City Jaycees At Convention In St. Louis

Three Appleton delegates are attending the 40th annual Junior Chamber of Commerce convention this week at St. Louis.

They are past President Don C. Smith; Terry Woodford, first vice president and Robert Wilms, chairman of the Jaycee self-safety project.

The Associated Press reports the convention probably will take on a more serious air today with the appearance of Vice President Richard Nixon, but so far has been marked by the antics of the delegates.

Antics included a war dance on St. Louis' busiest street by the Oklahoma delegation, a Florida delegate who was accompanied by a live alligator and the Nevada delegation, packing real six shooters—until police took the guns.

City Band Will Offer Concert

The Appleton City band, under the direction of Gerald Jensen, will play its first concert at 7:45 p.m. today at Pierce park.

Frank Comella, Appleton High school band director, will conduct the band when it plays music from the "West Side Story."

A Dixieland jazz number will feature Matt Chuchel on clarinet; Gerald Mattern, cornet; James Mattern, trombone; Adie Duszynski, tenor saxophone, and Harold Ferrox, tuba.

6-Year-Old's Foot Cut by Lawn Mower

A 6-year-old Appleton boy was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Monday in a police squad car after the lad's foot was cut by a rotary lawn mower.

Police said the boy, John Vander Wielen, 402 E. Wilson street, walked up to the mower which had been left running for a moment by Thomas Zeleske, 405 E. Wilson street. The boy's shoe and several toes were sliced.

committee into jurisdiction at the hearing.

Residents in part of the towns of Deer Creek and Bear Creek late in May petitioned the town boards to detach them from the New London district and attach them to the Bear Creek district. The boards, in effect, denied the petition since there was not complete attendance of officials at the meeting. The denial is within the statutory appeal period.

Bogue and Sanderson contended that the joint committee's action during this appeal period will cause "a great deal of confusion and serious damage to the educational program in Bear Creek would result."

However, Van Straten said today the committee's proposal excludes these areas affected by the appeal.

Two Fined for Topsy Driving

Clintonville Youth Pays $225 After Police Chase

A 21-year old Clintonville youth who led a state patrolman on a high-speed chase in and around New London was fined $225 this morning by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede.

Gerald J. Mavis was fined $100 for drunken driving and $125 for speeding, after pleading guilty to both charges.

State Patrolman LeRoy Goetler said he spotted Mavis' sports car at about 2:30 a.m. Monday morning a half mile south of New London on Highway 45, and chased Mavis into New London at speeds exceeding 100 miles an hour.

Goetler said Mavis turned off 45 onto Bruce street, and the patrolman turned on his red light and siren. The chase continued through New London—where Mavis went through three stop signs—and back onto Highway 45, where Goetler forced the Mavis car to a halt at the intersection of 45 and Algoma street.

Mavis tested .19 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication. His driver's license automatically was revoked for one year.

Appleton Man
Robert J. LaPlant, 22, of 1725 N. Ballard road, was fined $100 after pleading guilty to drunken driving.

He was arrested at 12:55 a.m. Monday after a state patrolman saw him driving erratically on Highway 76, a mile east of Highway 45 in the town of Greenville. LaPlant tested .19 on the drunkometer.

Battle Looming On City-Union Pact

Committee Cuts Deeply Into Union Agent's Main Objectives

If a final format for a years under the present arrangement. The committee's proposal would give workers three weeks after six years. However, in the same special report, the proposed rate of accumulation of sick leave will be halved. The Teamster agent has been asking one day a month, 12 days a year, to a total accumulation of 90 days. The committee decided to make it a half day a month, six days a year, to a total of 90. Workers now get five days a year and an accumulation of 60.

When new jobs become available the trial period for senior men was cut from 30 to 15 days.

In the discharge procedure it was decided a man could be fired without warning notice for insubordination, dishonesty, drunkenness or recklessness.

The shop committee was cut from seven to four men.

Grievances in Writing
When the shop committee meets at night with the street and sanitation committee and other officials to settle grievances the men will not be paid. They had been getting paid, probably in error, Director of Public Works Duszynski says.

Schlieve's proposed agreement did not say shop committees would get paid for night meetings. It said they would be allowed time off for the meetings. Council committee men added the words "from work" and said the pay would be figured on the base rate with no extra increments.

Grievances must be presented in writing, the committee agreed, and the street and sanitation committee decision will be final. Only discharges may be appealed to the council.

Overtime will be paid for all work over eight hours.

Another Delay
Also, members again postponed their meeting with him, from Thursday to Monday, another delay in his struggle to get the agreement for about 80 street and sanitation workers approved.

Eliminated by the committee was dues deduction. Only one member spoke in favor of dues deduction, saying it was no different than deducting life, health and accident premiums. Another commented, "When I get guaranteed bill collections for myself I'll approve it for the unions."

Premium pay was ruled out for all regular night men. It will still apply for men who work the usual 7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. hours, and who are called out at night for special or emergency work. The premium pay should be 15 cents an hour, not the 20 sought by the union, committee men agreed.

This is same as a 1957 working rules agreement adopted by the council, and applies to 6 p. m. through 7 a. m. hours.

Separate Reports
No arrangements for vacations and sick leave should be in agreement, members said. These items are covered under rules of the council for all city employees, they noted.

In a separate special report the committee will recommend two weeks vacation after one year and one day for every year of service to a maximum of three weeks.

This will actually give Schlieve more than he has been requesting. He wanted three weeks after 12 years service, instead of after 15 years.

Driver Hurt in Crash
Waupaca — Daniel Bilotti, 38, Manitowoc, is reported in good condition at Memorial hospital where he is receiving treatment for a cut head and neck injuries he suffered when his car went out of control and rolled over on Highway 54 about 16 miles west of here about 1 a.m. today. He was alone in his car.

Monday through Friday and on Saturdays and Sundays. Double time will be paid for holidays.

Committeemen decided to rewrite the agreement May 15, after taking action on a request that City Atty. Don Jury declare whether he was capable of helping write it. Jury said he could give legal counsel, but thought that if any help was needed it would be labor counsel.

Jury was not invited to Monday night's meeting.

The original agreement, negotiated by a previous street and sanitation committee, became bogged down in the present committee May 5, when members of Appleton Taxpayers and Personnel associations appeared at a committee meeting to push their suggestion that the city hire special legal counsel.

The original agreement was sent back to committee April 20 on a motion by Ald. Homer Malmstrom, following a question on overtime and premium pay by Ald. Kenneth Priebe.

Wanted to Scare Other Driver, Youth Asserts

Carl E. Schimmers Loses His License;
31 Other Motorists Fined or Forfeit

A 17-year-old Kimberly of 1128 W. Lorain street, $10 youth who said he attempted to force another driver off the road because he wanted to scare him, today in municipal court had his driver's license revoked for six months.

Carl E. Schimmers, 17, of 121 E. Elm street, admitted reckless driving.

Thirty-one other motorists were fined or forfeited bonds on various traffic charges. Schimmers was arrested by county police on Highway 96 West of Little Chute June 14. A 16-year-old Appleton youth was driver of the other car. The 16-year-old said Schimmers had followed him from Menasha. He said the 17-year-old tried several times to force him off the highway.

Illegal Passing
Eighteen motorists fined or who forfeited and who lost four points each for illegal passing were: Keith L. Bentley, 26, Iron River, Mich.; $25; Ruth A. Bellows, Palatine, Ill.; $25; Edward J. Chensky, 45, Riverside, Ill.; $25; John H. Engfors, 29, Morton Grove, Ill.; $15; Irving W. Gehring, 31, Chicago, $25; Stanley A. Green, 54, Wauwatosa, $15; Matthew C. Jacheg, 38, of 523 S. Mueller street, $15.

John M. Jordan, 33, of Kenilworth, Ill.; $25; Dorothy Levitus, Chicago, $25; Gerald A. Nelson, 23, Peshtigo, $25; Leonard D. Norcia, 57, Waukesha, $25; James H. Johannes M. Bavinck, 21, of 912 W. Washington street, paid $25 and lost four points for driving at a speed greater than reasonable and prudent. Others in court were Chester Williams, 58, route 2, West De Pere, no driver's license, $10; Weber Trailer Rentals, Menasha, no directional lights on trailer, $13.95 and A. E. Schultz, 40, route 2, Appleton, no clearance lights, $10.

Prices Uneven On Exchange

Most Issues Up Or Down Fractions In Active Trade

New York — Profits were taken in recent favorites early this afternoon as the stock market presented a jumbled picture. Trading was active.

Some speculative favorites dipped 3 or 4 points. The general list of key stocks, however, was a mixture of gains and losses kept generally within a 1-point range. A number of issues showed little or no change. Airlines were steady to higher following recent gains on fare hike news. Chemicals was mostly lower after backing away from an assortment of early gains.

The pattern was irregular for motors, steels, oils, aircrafts, electronics, and utilities. Rails were slightly ahead on balance.

Standard Kollsman, last week's most active gainer, was down 4 points as turnover continued heavy in this issue following a ban placed on "stop" orders in the stock by the New York Stock Exchange. There are orders placed in advanced at specified prices and lead to "bunching" of transactions.

Collins Radio fell more than 3 and International Business Machines about 4. Other recent favorites were Commercial Solvents, down 2, and NAFL, off about 3.

Hammond Organ spurted about 2. Allied Chemical gained more than a point. Union Carbide and Du Pont lost about a point each. Air Reduction fell 1/2 to 76 on a block of 10,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.51 to 646.01.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 221.90 with the industrials off .10, the rails up .30 and the utilities unchanged.

Corporate bonds declined in moderately active trading.

Rain Greets Summer Entry In Fox Cities

Showers greeted summer as it slipped into the Fox Cities at 4:28 a.m. today. Cool air and clouds made the day more like some dreary day in early spring.

This is the longest day of the year because the sun has approached its farthest point north, 27 1/2 degrees. It also will be the longest day of clouds for the Fox Cities.

More rain is in the forecast. The Chicago weather bureau said precipitation fell over the central and northern plains today, the south Atlantic coastal states and the central and southern Mississippi valley.

Tampa, Fla., had a fall totaling 2.22 inches into the morning, with 1.69 inches during one hour. Springfield, Ill., got nearly 2 inches. Rapid City, S.D., .95 inches.

Two tornadoes struck in northeastern Colorado. There were no injuries, but some damage to utilities and property occurred.

Defer County Request for Extra Judge

Judicial Council Asks Changes in Circuit Districts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Requests of Outagamie and Grant counties for an additional county judge each have been deferred by the Judicial Council.

But the council, a research and planning agency, has urged upon the legislature changes in the boundaries of four Wisconsin circuit court districts to take into account changing populations and court work loads.

Making A Study
The recommendations went to the judicial committee of the legislature which is making a study of circuit court reapportionment for the next legislature.

While holding the Outagamie county request, the council urged denial of requests of Fond du Lac, Sauk and Columbia counties for additional county judges in each county.

The council pointed out it would be desirable to experience the assignment of judges provision of the county court reorganization act, taking effect in January of 1962, before new judicial positions are authorized.

The proposed circuit district changes would:

The Changes
Remove Jefferson county from the 12th judicial circuit, now consisting of Jefferson, Rock and Green counties, and attach it to the 13th circuit, now consisting of Dodge county only.

Remove Trempealeau county from the sixth circuit, now consisting of LaCrosse, Monmouth, Vernon and Trempealeau counties, and attach it to the 24th circuit, consisting of Eau Claire county only.

Substitute Adams county for Sauk county in the 17th circuit, remove Columbia and Marquette counties from the 18th circuit, and set up a new circuit consisting of Sauk, Columbia and Marquette counties, leaving Fond du Lac and Green Lake counties to compose the 18th circuit.

The judicial council also endorsed the appeal of Racine county for two additional county judges, subject to legislative approval, but denied the county's request for an additional circuit judge.

Seal-Kap Buys Paper Trade Of Potlatch

American Seal-Kap corporation has purchased the paper container business and leased the two container plants of Potlatch Forests, Inc. Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

A Seal-Kap spokesman said the acquisition would mean a $3 million increase in the company's sales this year, and if the two plants were brought to capacity production, the potential is $6 million. The company has an 8-year lease on the plants, with an option to buy at termination.

The Potlatch plants are in Elizabeth, N.J., and St. Louis. These, together with new plants just completed by Seal-Kap near Los Angeles and Toronto, give the company nationwide distribution of paper food containers and cups.

Cancer Society Tops Drive Goal

For the sixth consecutive year, the Outagamie county unit of the American Cancer society has exceeded its crusade goal. Mrs. David Gallaher reported today.

A total of $17,409.19 has been collected so far with a few rural areas still not reported. The goal was $17,010.00. In Appleton, $11,618.43 was collected through a residential, business, special gift and organization solicitation. The urban areas contributed $5,356.51, and the memorial contributions amounted to $434.25.

Mrs. Gallaher was general chairman, and Mr. E. R. Honkamp headed the rural division.

The clatter of the dog tags being flipped over keeps the boys from getting their sleep.

From Hayward comes word that the mosquitoes are cross-breeding with rattlesnakes. The newborn rattlesnakes before they strike.

Two adventurers were on a canoe trip in Canada when the mosquitoes got so persistent they dragged their aluminum canoe onto shore, overturned it and crawled under. They pushed piles of dirt around the cracks, hid their food under the canoe and managed to exist reasonably well, while the mosquitoes formed a plan.

Some banzai troops struck the bottom of the overturned canoe and sunk their noses into the aluminum. The men underneath quickly hit their noses with hatchets, bending them over so they were caught. After 37,000 mosquitoes had been so imprisoned, they worked their wings together and lifted the canoe.

Their friends then attacked the canoeists and finished them off.

In Alaska, the mosquito problem is combatted by special crews of agile high school boys. They stand against a tree and wait for a mosquito to fly at them full speed. At the last instant the boy jumps out of the way causing the mosquito's nose to be driven into and through the tree.

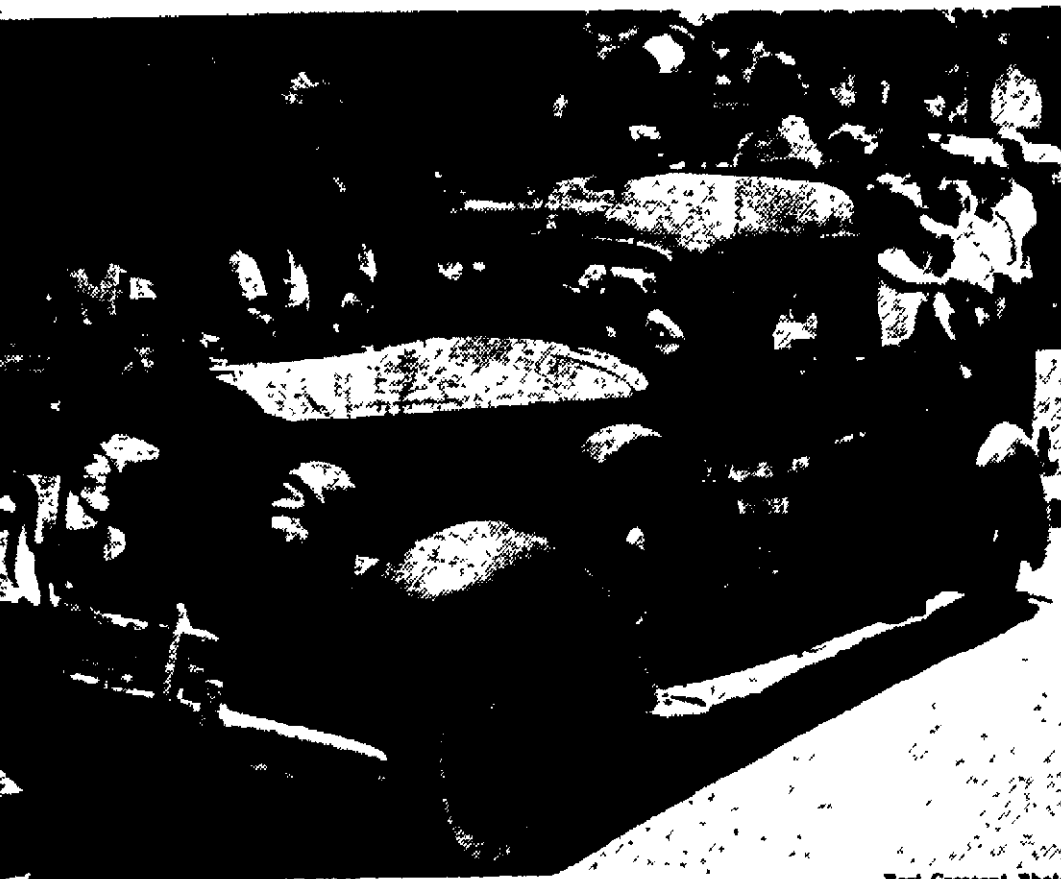

The boy quickly steps around to the other side of the tree and bends down the bug's nose with a mallet, and there it must remain.

more observations and concluded: there are so many wood ticks and mosquitoes they are mating. The offspring of a wood tick mother and a mosquito father can fly, hop and crawl. I predict that Rhinelander will be depopulated (by human beings) within one week.

The mosquito problem has its values, too. In the upper peninsula people are getting target practice by shooting mosquitoes down with .22 calibre rifles. Then the kids dry out the carcasses, spread their wings and use them for gliders.

Wake Camp McCoy

At Camp McCoy, the mosquitoes are not only numerous, but also fussy. Every night they wake up the sleeping army reserves not just by humming but by making a big metallic clatter. The mosquitoes fly into the barracks and turn over the dog tags of the sleeping soldiery to see what blood type is stamped there.

The Outagamie County 40 et 8, Appleton, entered this automobile in the fifth annual American Legion day parade Sunday at the Grand Army home, King. Members and their families bristle from the sides of the car, equipped with a siren and whistle.

On the House Mosquito Stories Multiply As Their Numbers Increase

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Mosquitoes being what they are this year, have become a subject for jocular discussion in the areas the pesky critters will visit.

To add to the repertoire of mosquito-ridden friends I offer these stories. Some are time-worn, some fresh and new, and some you've never heard. For this service, y'r welcome.

Two men on a fishing trip in the Canadian woods, where the mosquitoes are so numerous fled to their tent and remained there. Outside, they could hear the mosquitoes talking.

"Should we go in and eat them," asked one tenor-voiced mosquito, "or should we drag them outside and finish them off here?"

"Well, that should be no great problem," answered another mosquito. "It's obvious that we should go into their tent and eat them there. If we pull them outside, you know what will happen—the big fellows will take them away from us."

Mate With Wood Ticks

Around Rhinelander, the mosquitoes are so thick, reports a friend, that they became a scientific problem for a professional entomologist. He flew to Rhinelander to check on a story that the mosquitoes could not only jump and fly, but the wood ticks had developed wings and were creating great problems, too.

The entomologist made his report within a week:

"I studied the wood ticks and observed some strange changes. I could not understand these deviations from the normal. Then one day I saw a mosquito fly past with four wood ticks hanging on his leg. I made some

Peerless PAINT USED ON THE NEW COLLEGE AVENUE BRIDGE

As a local manufacturer, PEERLESS Paint was exceptionally pleased to furnish the aluminum paint for Appleton's newest and finest high level bridge. We also want to congratulate Wunderlich Bros. Construction Company, also a local company for a job well done.

Peerless Paint has been manufactured and sold in Appleton since 1928. We plan to continue to expand and grow with Appleton and the Fox Cities.
